Sinatra Says
Kidnaping No
Publicity GagBecomes Angry
During Quiz By
Woman Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Frank Sinatra Jr., showing angry emotion in a bitter courtroom drama, Friday flatly denied attorney Gladys Towles Root's charge that he arranged his own "little kidnap plot" to gain fame and publicity.

For the first time in two days on the witness stand, young Sinatra's voice broke with emotion as the woman trial lawyer demanded to know why he did not try to attract the attention of patrolmen at a roadblock after the Dec. 8 kidnap.

"I didn't want it on my conscience that any man who was stupid or idiotic enough to kidnap me might blow the brains out of a police officer," Sinatra said.

"The truth is you would have wrecked your little kidnap plot which you arranged, and it would not have been successful," she asked rhetorically.

Emphatic Denial

"That is not true," was the emphatic response.

Sinatra and Mrs. Root tangled again just before the trial recessed until Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Root said she would resume cross-examination Monday. Other defense attorneys already have questioned Sinatra.

The defense has charged that Sinatra Jr. agreed to the kidnaping to win publicity that would make him rich and famous like his father.

"It definitely was not a hoax," Sinatra said, his voice sounding sharply in the courtroom where three men—Barry Worthington Keenan, 23, Joseph Clyde Amster, 23, and John William Irwin, 42 — are on trial for his kidnaping.

"I had no reason to feel that my life was worth anything," he said. "I told them (the kidnapers) that if they didn't release me pretty soon I would kill them or they would have to kill me."

Admits Statements

Also, under cross-examination by defense attorney Charles Couch Jr., young Sinatra conceded telling two of his three accused kidnapers shortly after he was abducted last Dec. 8 from a Lake Tahoe motel:

"You won't believe me, but I hope you guys get away with this. I know what it is to be afraid. You guys really have guts."

Sinatra Jr. also said under cross-examination that he told his kidnapers he would "do everything I can to help you."

"You guys don't have to worry about me," the young singer admitted saying. "Don't worry about roadblocks."

Erhard Told
France Loyal

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle assured West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in talks here Friday that France remains a loyal member of the Western Alliance, a German spokesman said.

De Gaulle told Erhard during a day of talks that France's recognition of Communist China was in no way meant to damage the alliance, the spokesman said.

He quoted the French leader as saying that France is firmly attached to the Western Alliance, even though its ideas on how it should be directed and made more effective differ from those of other member countries.

There was no confirmation of this reported assurance by De Gaulle from the French side.

Hoffa Worried?

Robbery
Defendant
Acquitted

AYLESBURY, England (UPI) — James Daly, one of the major defendants in Britain's great train robbery trial, was acquitted Friday after the judge ruled the prosecution had failed to prove its case against the pudgy antique dealer.

The verdict was the first to be returned in the trial. Daly was one of 21 defendants charged with either planning, taking part, or receiving some of the loot from the $7.3 million mail train robbery last Aug. 8.

Shortly after the robbery, police identified the 31-year-old Daly as one of the men they wanted to question. It was nearly four months before police found Daly, living under an assumed name.

He was charged with conspiring to rob the train and of actually taking part in the robbery, believed to be the largest cash theft in history.

Judge Edmund Davies interrupted the trial to announce that Daly's attorney "has submitted to me that I ought to stop the case."

"... Having come to the conclusion that that is the right course to adopt," the judge continued, "it is now that I have decided that it would not be right for the case against Mr. Daly to proceed."

The judge said that "suspicion of a crime is quite insufficient" and directed the jury to bring in a verdict of innocent. Daly was freed immediately.

The trial of the other defendants continued.

Gals Not Leaping
Despite Leap Year

VALENTINE, Neb. (UPI) — It's Leap Year, but the gals may not be leaping.

At least it isn't evident in the "City of Hearts," Valentine, Neb.

Each year thousands of Valentines are sent to Valentine to be postmarked and re-mailed to sweethearts.

This year, only about 5,000 Valentines were received — about half the number of last year.

GOP Launches
Drive To Cut
LBJ's Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans opened a new economy drive Friday, promising to cut $5 billion to $6 billion in "fat" from President Johnson's budget.

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, chairman of a re-created GOP "economy task force," announced the savings goal in the weekly newsletter of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

The task force, comprising key GOP members of the appropriations committee, was set up early last year by Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, the campaign committee's senior Republican member.

Jensen said he is continuing the task force this year because "we think it is time to expose the widely circulated myth that the Johnson administration is practicing economy in the expenditure of the taxpayer's money."

Hunger Hits
Bali Island

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — The official Antara news agency said Friday nearly 18,000 Balinese are starving and more than 100,000 other inhabitants of the fabled island of Indonesia are suffering from malnutrition.

District heads of Tabanan and Gianjar on Bali were quoted as saying there has been no food for months because of the destruction caused by last year's Gunung Agung volcano eruption, and pests, and a long dry period.

The officials were quoted as saying that Balinese "eat whatever they can find — live plants from the forest and marrow of palm trees."

COCHABAMBA, Bolivia (AP) — A bus dived off a winding mountain road into a ravine near here Thursday, killing 15 passengers. Thirty-five others were injured, 22 of them seriously.

Tells Planters
To Learn From Other Nations

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev threatened farm bureaucrats Friday with mass dismissal unless they learn to copy Western methods. "It would be stupid to ignore the achievements of foreign science only because they were made in a capitalist country," he told his Communist party Central Committee. "Vladimir Ilyich Lenin did not consider it a shame to learn from the capitalists."

He spoke at a special meeting of the committee and invited agricultural specialists.

"If officials do not want to study and apply the new, or are too unresponsive to the achievements of science and practice, and continue to obstinately cling to the old, such people must be replaced and others promoted," he said.

Khrushchev's remarks indicated dissatisfaction with the operation of the farm administration apparatus which he reorganized a year ago to devote special attention to farming.

Khrushchev also accused underlings of distorting his personal campaign to introduce mass sowing of corn in the Soviet Union. He recently acknowledged that in many arid areas wheat is a more suitable crop than corn.

Friday he angrily declared: "Distortions must not be tolerated. The most valuable crops for local conditions should be used."

Khrushchev told the plenary meeting that began here last Monday that farm production would double and treble, once the chemical industry starts producing enough fertilizers. But he warned Communist chiefs not to wait for the fertilizers, saying they should start streamlining their operations immediately. At the same time, he said, they must not forget about organic fertilizers.

In the speech, as summarized by the Soviet news agency Tass, Khrushchev also: —Struck out again at the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency's estimates of a decrease in the Soviet economic growth rate. He said the CIA report showed the capitalists were worried about Russia's "temporarily" economic growth.

—Proposed to give long-delayed pensions to old and incapacitated collective workers by setting up a fund that probably would be drawn mostly from farm wages.

—Denied Western reports that he was cutting back heavy industry and defense potential to pay for building up his chemical industry.

—Proposed to set up a new agency to study scientific trends in the West, presumably to prevent Russia's getting left behind the West in developing new industries such as chemicals.

Burton Is Cleared
For Return To U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government indicated Friday that British actor Richard Burton may return to the United States when he wants, where he wants and with or without Elizabeth Taylor.

The knowledge that Burton Taylor — apparently has been cleared for entry emerged from two developments: —The U.S. Immigration Service said Friday it expected the Welsh actor to have no difficulty in crossing the border into the United States. It said he could enter the country at any point he desires.

The State Department said Thursday it could find no legal grounds on which to revoke Burton's visa, issued to him on Jan. 22 for a period of six months.

Peace Plan
For Cyprus
Fails AgainMakarios Will Take Crisis To
United Nations

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball's effort to sell President Makarios a British-American peace plan collapsed Friday. Diplomats said Makarios will present the Cyprus crisis to the U.N. Security Council.

Makarios—who has said that "When I have certain ideas I will not compromise"—rejected the proposal for landing of an international peace-keeping army outside U.N. control.

Ball said the search will continue for a solution to bring peace and order out of the communal fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots, in which three Turkish Cypriots were reported shot dead Friday.

Ball left by air to brief government officials of Turkey and Greece, uneasy allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, on the outcome of three days of discussions which he and a special British envoy, Cyril Pickard, conducted in Nicosia.

Both American and British diplomats strongly urged Turkey against independent intervention.

Talk Of Invasion

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu was reported to have warned the U.S., British and Greek governments that urgent steps must be taken to restore security.

There were persistent but completely unofficial reports of Turkish army and naval activity on the mainland within striking distance of Cyprus. London papers played up invasion talk. Landing in Ankara for talks with Inonu and Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Irkin, Ball told newsmen he was gripped by the situation on Cyprus, "which we found very critical."

Ball will go next to Athens, then to London.

Fly To New York

A Cypriot government spokesman announced Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou will fly to New York to lay the issue before the Security Council next week.

This is in line with a call by Soviet Premier Khrushchev a week ago for a settlement by the Security Council and Cyprus itself.

Big Long-Range
Bomber Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee brushed aside recommendations by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and urged Friday an immediate start on a new long-range bomber to replace the B52 and B58.

It authorized an extra $92 million for the proposed plan and for work on an improved interceptor. The interceptor would be designed to shoot down enemy bombers at distances so great the attacking planes would have no chance to launch their missiles.

The administration does not have to spend the money even if Congress should authorize and then appropriate it.

The committee included the funds in a record $16.9 billion bill authorizing funds for more than 2,700 new aircraft and 35,000 missiles for the armed services. The bill also would provide 53 new warships, including six atomic-powered attack submarines.

NEWS AROUND
THIS MORNING

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Fresh fighting was reported in western Cyprus and Cypriot Vice President Fazil Kuchuk said Turkey was obligated to intervene "to restore peace and order" on the battle-scarred Mediterranean island. Kuchuk, leader of the Turkish Cypriot community, spoke shortly after U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball arrived in Ankara, Turkey, from Nicosia and said the United States was concerned over the "gravity" of the situation on Cyprus.

MOSCOW—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is cutting down military manpower and expenditures. He described the cutbacks as "common sense" and said they were not forced by any economic pinch, but he gave no figures.

BERLIN—The West Berlin city government, acting on orders from the Western Allies and West Germany, announced it has rejected a Communist East German offer to issue Easter passes for travel through the Berlin Wall. An announcement charged the Communists were trying to make political capital out of the West's desire to reunite families separated by the wall.

GENEVA—The American and Russian co-chairmen met privately in Geneva amid reports from Moscow that the Russians were considering withdrawing from the disarmament conference because of the defection to the West of one of their secret agents. Chief U.S. negotiator William C. Foster, however, insisted that he and Soviet delegation chief Semyon K. Tsarapkin did not discuss the Yuri Nosenko case nor the Moscow reports.

Fischer Quints
Doing Nicely

ABERDEEN, S.D. (UPI) The Fischer quintuplets were 5 months old Friday and they celebrated Valentine's Day like any other day—squirreling and crying.

The quintuplets were born to Mrs. Andrew Fischer during the pre-dawn hours of Sept. 14. The Fischers have five other children.

Thursday night the Fischers watched a basketball game between the Harlem Globetrotters and the New Jersey Pelicans in the Aberdeen Arena.

Mayor Cliff Hurlbert presented the symbol of the quintuplets—a string of five safety pins, four pink and one blue—to the Globetrotters at halftime.

The Trotters reciprocated by presenting the Fischers with two autographed basketballs, showed continued strength for their oldest brother, Danny.

Employment Drops
During January

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Industrial and other non-farm payroll employment dropped by 1.7 million in January. But the Labor Department said Friday it was encouraged because the decline was 90,000 less than had been expected at this time of year.

The department's monthly breakdown on employment and unemployment put the number of non-farm jobholders at 56.9 million. Department spokesman Harold Goldstein said the employment situation in January showed continued strength in the service industries.

U.S. To Grant

Red Defector

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet secret police defector Yuri I. Nosenko told Russian and Swiss representatives in Washington Friday that he wants political asylum in the United States, the State Department announced.

Press officer Richard I. Phillips said Nosenko's request will be granted. His disappearance from the Soviet disarmament delegation in Geneva Feb. 4 created a cold war sensation.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko accused the United States of "improper behavior" in the Nosenko case. He delivered a stiff oral protest to U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler in Moscow earlier in the day.

But the U.S. government went ahead with its plans to grant asylum to the 36-year-old Russian who is reputed to be a staff officer of the Soviet secret police, the KGB. His ostensible assignment in Geneva was as a junior member of the Soviet delegation to the international conference there.

The State Department finally cleared up the mystery of Nosenko's whereabouts by saying he is now in the United States and the Soviets had sent a note asking to interview him.

Judge Wants
To See Tenor
Of VeniremenDefense Lawyers
Will Challenge
Every Jurymen

DALLAS (UPI) — Judge Joe B. Brown ordered Friday that the Jack Ruby murder trial start in Dallas Monday morning to see whether the defense and prosecution can pick an impartial jury.

The ruling was a setback for the defense. It promised legal fireworks just short of "insults and defamation" in questioning jurors.

But Brown said he was not throwing out a defense demand for holding the trial in another city for the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

He said he would see how the jury questioning went before he would make a final decision on a change of venue.

"I want to see what the tenor of the jury is," the veteran judge said.

Accept Ruling

Chief defense attorney Melvin Belli accepted the ruling with good grace. Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said, "I'm very pleased." He will seek the death penalty.

Belli said "Yes" with hesitation when asked if he was pleased. Then he said: "In view of the fact we have failed to get fair treatment, we are going to ask each and every juror every sort of question this side of insulting them and defaming them."

"It may take a full day to question each juror."

A panel of 900 Dallas residents was ordered to report as prospective jurors. Names are chosen by lot from poll tax lists.

Lasts Four Days

Belli fought for four days in the change of venue hearing to try to show that Ruby could not get an impartial jury in the city where the President was assassinated and his accused killer was slain. Of 41 witnesses called, 25 said they felt the trial should be removed to another city in the state.

Belli warned again that he was going to press the issue of sanity for the 52-year-old Dallas striptease nightclub operator.

He said the defense would plead innocent "by reason of insanity."

Ruby apparently will be held without bail. During bail hearings last month, the defense withdrew its request for bail bond on the decision of the judge to have Ruby undergo mental examinations by three physicians in a Dallas clinic.

Results of these tests will form a major part of the defense-prosecution fight, the defense indicated.

Judge Brown announced that the trial would start at 10 a.m. EST Monday in a larger courtroom. Judge J. Frank Wilson offered the use of his courtroom, which has 192 spectator seats and room for additional chairs. Brown's courtroom holds only 68 spectators.

Lie Detector
Frees Suspect

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—A lie test exonerated a war bride and former inmate of a concentration camp who nearly went to prison for murder rather than admit that her husband committed suicide.

State's Atty. John M. Karns Jr. said Friday that Mrs. Paula Beier, 35, Czechoslovakian war bride who once was sentenced to 14 years in prison, was cleared of all complicity in the fatal shooting of her husband.

Karns said the three-hour lie test "left no doubt whatsoever" that the brunette housewife told the truth when she finally admitted, one and one-half years after the shooting, that Air Force Sgt. Thomas A. W. Beier's fatal wounds were self-inflicted.

President Inaugurates 200th Anniversary Celebration Of Founding Of St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—President Johnson swung away in the heart of America at critics at home and abroad who may "seek political gain from baseless denunciation of the United States."

But Johnson also welcomed what he called "fair discussion of honest difference" both at home and abroad. From it, he said, freedom prospers.

And, in a city where civil rights advocates are restless, the President declared that Americans "must choose progress or decay," and that "we cannot secure the success of freedom around the world if it is not secure for all citizens in our cities."

The stage for the presidential address was a banquet inaugurating a two-year celebration of the 200th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis. All the tickets had been snapped up for this event, that launched St. Louis into its third century.

Johnson's speech was the capstone of a presidential schedule that listed a visit to the partly constructed 630-foot gateway arch beside the Mississippi, a look at a new industrial complex, and a stop at St. Louis University to plant a tree and talk to the students. Mrs. Johnson remained in Washington.

In his prepared speech, Johnson looked back through the past, at the present, and into the future.

"We cherish our past — and we celebrate it proudly," he said. "But America is the land of tomorrow, not yesterday."

Touching on some of the problems that face the nation and its cities, and then on international sore spots, Johnson wound up by saying: "We cannot expect perfection in an imperfect world, nor can we expect complete agreement among the world's free men."

"Freedom prospers through the fair discussion of honest differences. Both at home and abroad, we welcome such discussion."

"But neither at home nor abroad is there any need for twisted arguments that would damage the good name of our country."

"The American people have little sympathy for those abroad who seek political gain from baseless denunciation of the United States, and they will equally reject such tactics when employed at home."

Johnson made no effort to identify or pinpoint the targets he was aiming at.

But differences among men of the free world have been highlighted by U.S. concern over France's recognition of Red China and Britain's insistence on trading with Cuba.

And at home, Republican politics have begun a drumfire against the way Johnson has handled foreign policy, as well as some domestic affairs.

Virginia Mother Shoots Four Children, Takes Her Own Life

Note Indicates Fear Of Further Psychiatric Care

FALLS CHURCH, Va., (AP)—A mother shot her four children Friday—three of them fatally—and then committed suicide, police said.

The fourth child, a 2-year-old boy, was reported by Fairfax County Hospital to be in "extremely critical" condition.

Chief William Durrer of the Fairfax County Police identified the victims as:

Judith E. Cox, wife of Thomas J. Cox, principal of the Jefferson Elementary School, and their children, Daniel B., 14; Laura Beth, 11, and Timothy D., four months.

The 2-year-old, Joel, was shot in the head, Durrer said. Durrer said the shootings apparently occurred shortly after 3 p.m., only a few minutes before the father entered the house located in the prosperous Sleepy Hollow section of Fairfax County.

Danny, the chief said, was sprawled on the kitchen floor. He had been shot once in the head, apparently as he was opening letters on the drain-board of the sink.

Laura Beth, also dead from a single head shot, was in her bedroom. She had been stamping Valentine cards. The baby, Timothy, shot once in the back and again in the head, was in the crib in his nursery.

The mother was found dead, sitting in a rocking chair. She held a .38 caliber revolver in one hand and in the other police said they found three notes. One of the notes expressed the fear that she might have to return to a hospital for psychiatric treatment, police said. All six shots in the revolver had been fired, police said.

Ranger Launch Is Postponed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency Friday indefinitely postponed launch of the next Ranger spacecraft mission designed to take closeup lunar photographs for the benefit of Apollo astronauts scheduled to land on the moon before 1970.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said it still has not been determined why Ranger 6, launched Jan. 30, failed to get pictures of the moon's surface.

The next Ranger, No. 7, was to have been launched from Cape Kennedy around Feb. 28. Its equipment is identical to that of the Ranger that failed.

NASA said Ranger 7's six television cameras have been removed from the spacecraft, and sent to the Astro Electronics Division of the Radio Corporation of America at Hightstown, N.J., which designed and built them.

The launch date of Ranger 7, NASA said, depends on the outcome of a search by the agency and its Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., for the reasons of the Ranger 6 failure.

Montgomery Co. Adds $8 Million To School Budget

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—In a marathon session which didn't end until after 4 a.m. Friday, the Montgomery County Board of Education approved a $60.8 million operating budget for the county's schools in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The budget is $8 million bigger than the one approved last year. A construction budget of $17 million was adopted earlier.

The budgets are subject to action by the County Council.

American Casualty Toll In Viet Nam On Increase

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—The American casualty toll in South Viet Nam reflects clearly the increasing involvement of the United States in this country's bloody guerrilla war against the Communist Viet Cong.

So far this year the toll of American dead and wounded as a result of hostile action is almost as large as the toll was for the entire years of 1961 and 1962 according to figures provided by the United States Military Assistance Command here.

The United States military headquarters maintains two categories of casualties—those killed, wounded or missing in hostile action and those killed or injured as a result of non-hostile action.

From January 1, 1961 to the end of December 1962, 21 Americans were killed in hostile action against the Viet Cong while 80 were wounded. Another 34 were killed in non-hostile actions while 45 were injured.

During 1963 the casualty rate increased considerably, with 74 Americans killed in hostile action, 416 wounded and 11 missing.

Non-hostile actions during 1963 claimed 29 American lives and 72 injured.

Thus far this year 12 Americans have died in hostile action; 87 have been wounded and two are missing while five were killed in non-hostile actions and four injured.

This makes a total of 17 Americans killed in hostile action since the start of 1961 with 583 wounded and 13 missing.

Non-hostile incidents have claimed 68 lives and 121 injured.

Smoking Termed Form Of Suicide

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dr. Alton Ochsner, a noted chest surgeon, said Friday that cigarette smoking is a form of suicide.

Ochsner, writing in the current issue of the New Physician, the journal of the American Medical Association, said life expectancy in cigarette smokers is less than in non-smokers.

Lung Cancer has become the most frequent of all cancers, the New Orleans, La., surgeon said.

"Unless something is done to prevent this unprecedented increase it is safe to estimate conservatively that by 1975 bronchogenic cancer will represent more than 40 per cent of all cancer deaths," he said.

School Official Killed By Train

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—A Belpre, Ohio, school official was killed late Friday when his compact car was struck by a locomotive at a grade crossing in that community.

Police identified the victim as William R. Stone, about 33, curriculum coordinator for Belpre elementary schools.

They said his car was dragged nearly 1,000 feet down the railroad freight cars are getting track after being hit by a bilingual markings—French on one side, English on the other.

W.Va. Highway Probe Nears Completion

Federal-Aid Roads Land Acquisition Termed Costly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-awaited report of findings in the West Virginia highway investigation is nearing completion and is expected to be made public within the next several weeks.

This word came Friday from a member of the staff of the House Public Works Subcommittee which conducted the investigation in 1962.

The inquiry dealt primarily with the acquisition of rights-of-way for federal-aid highways in the state. The committee was told that West Virginia has the poorest system of right-of-way acquisition of 16 states which had been checked by Joseph Smoke of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"West Virginia without a doubt has the least efficient right-of-way operation I have encountered," Smoke told the committee.

The committee heard testimony that property owners received land payments far above actual value.

There was testimony that state appraisers submitted identical value estimates and of the hiring of appraisers with little or no experience.

There was testimony that appraisers on one occasion submitted 28 identical estimates supposedly arriving at values independently. Nine other appraisals were said to be near identical.

Several former fee appraisers testified they were ordered to give the property owner every break. To do this, they said, they were told to use appraisal procedures they regarded as irregular.

Reappraisals in some cases led to figures 10 times as high as original estimates, the committee was told.

There was testimony also that some projects were started before all necessary land had been acquired.

Studebaker Reports Loss Of $16 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Studebaker Corp., which late last year quit making automobiles in the United States, reported Friday it lost $16,926,732 in 1963.

This compares with earnings of $489,460, before non-recurring profit of $2,072,334, in 1962. Sales rose to $403,314,089 from $365,452,692.

The company announced that directors had authorized a special charge against 1963 income of $64 million to provide against losses on disposal of its South Bend, Ind., automotive plant and equipment and for estimated cancellation costs, inventory obsolescence and other costs related to discontinued operations.

Byers A. Burlingame, president, said diversified divisions other than automotive earned approximately $11 million before federal income taxes last year.

Studebaker will continue producing cars in its Hamilton, Ont., plant.

Foreign Objects Found In Milk

ROME (UPI)—Rome milk drinkers are growing wary of what they may find in the next dairy bottle.

In the last week milk cartons and bottles have poured out cigarettes, tangerine seeds, razor blades and the equivalent of a glass of water.

Authorities at the municipal milk center, whose products were involved in all cases, said their mechanical bottling and packing plants eliminated all possibility of foreign objects slipping into the containers.

There was some speculation of sabotage on the part of competitors, as there was in Naples last year.

Industrial Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's industrial production remained at a high level in January, with increased output of television sets and other household goods offsetting a slight lag in automobile assemblies, the Federal Reserve Board said Friday.

The Federal Reserve's index was 127.1 in January compared to 107.0 in December. This means that the nation's output from factories, mines and utilities was 27.1 per cent higher in January than the average in 1957-59.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—At least four Maryland hospitals plan to review their policies on cigarette sales and smoking but no hospitals in the state have taken any steps yet.

The four which indicated in a survey they are planning review of the matter are Mercy Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Baltimore, Frederick Memorial in Frederick and Peninsula General in Salisbury.

The administrator of Lutheran Hospital in Baltimore, Mark Dawson, said he doubted that cigarette smoking could be banned in voluntary non-profit hospitals.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—City Council has voted to permit a special referendum on sale of Hagerstown's electric light plant for which Potomac Edison Co. has offered $14 million.

Mayor Winslow F. Burhans suggested, however, that he might veto the resolution supported by three of the five councilmen early Friday after almost four hours of argument.

The city charter stipulates a vote on sale of the plant can only be held in a municipal election. The resolution amends the charter to permit a vote this fall. There is not an election until March of 1965.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland—D. C.—Delaware Broadcasters Association said today it would seek an appearance before legislators in Annapolis to oppose proposed restrictions on news coverage.

Del. Richard M. Matthews, D-Dorchester, has sponsored four bills to curb what he has termed distortion of the news about racial strife in Cambridge. The bills would make it illegal to publish or broadcast a misrepresentation of a "material fact" or any matter which "reasonably tends to incite persons to commit an offense against the laws of the state."

Thomas Carr of WBAL, Baltimore, association president, said he planned to send telegrams of opposition to Gov. Tawes, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan, the House Judiciary Committee and Speaker of the House Marvin Mandel, as well as Matthews.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Martin Co. said Friday it has contracted to buy 28 acres of land in Baltimore County to build a new home for its Research Institute for Advanced Studies.

RIAS, established by the Martin Co. in 1955 to pursue pure scientific research, now is situated in the Ruxton area of the county.

The land to be bought from Mrs. Mildred C. Thompson is beyond Catonsville, about two miles south of the Baltimore Beltway. Martin said the building should be completed by the spring of 1965.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rep. Clarence D. Long said Friday the Sparrows Point shipyard of Bethlehem Steel Co. is almost certain to be awarded a $20.5 contract to build two government subsidized ships.

Long said the Maritime Administration schedule calls for award of the work to Bethlehem April 17. The ships are to be built for the Prudential Steamship Co.

2 Delaware Men Die In Collision

CRUMPTON, Md. (AP)—Two Delaware men were killed Friday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Maryland 200 and Maryland 544 in Queen Anne's County near here.

Dead were William B. Cranston, 61, of Wilmington, Del., and John B. Henry, 65, of Newcastle, Del.

State Police said the Cranston car ran a stop sign of Maryland 544, collided with a car driven by Russell W. Hanaan, 29, of Crumpton.

The Cranston car overturned and skidded into a utility pole, killing the men instantly, police said. Hanaan was treated at Queen Anne's Hospital and released.

The deaths raise the Maryland traffic fatality count to 51, compared with 59 a year ago.

21 January Permits Issued In County

Some 21 building permits and zoning certificates for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $140,150 were issued during the month of January by C. Lee Renaud, Allegany County planning director.

Both totals are ahead of January a year ago when only 15 permits were issued for $74,577. Two years ago in January there were only 20 permits but the estimated cost was a higher $222,145.

Included among the January permits were nine for new dwellings, four for sheds and two for garages. Others included an apartment, a hunting cabin addition, a fishing camp, enclosing swimming pool, carport and a dwelling addition.

The permits authorized construction in 15 different election districts of the county. District 29, LaVale, and District 7, Crestapton-Rawlings, were the leaders with three permits each. There were two each for Districts 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie, and 27, Gilmore. Other districts with a single January permit included: Districts 1, Little Orleans; 3, Flintstone; 5, North End suburban; 6, West Side suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 17, Vale Summit; 18, Midland; 21, Gross; 31, McCoolie, and 33, Kifer.

Mr. Renaud's office has the responsibility for issuing permits for construction in the unincorporated areas of the county.

IRS Sends Out New Tax Tables

Internal Revenue Service said 4 1/2 million copies of the new income tax withholding tables came out on the 14 per cent rate agreed upon by Congress are being mailed to employers.

The 32-page booklet entitled "Employers Tax Guide" is expected to be in the hands of employers well in advance of the effective date of the lowered 14 per cent withholding rate on wages and salaries. The effective date expected to be seven days after President Johnson signs the tax cut bill is estimated to be about March 1.

Printing of the tax guide began shortly after the 14 per cent withholding rate was approved by Senate and House conferees on February 10, and distribution of the guides was begun to Internal Revenue Regional Service Centers where they are being addressed and mailed to employers.

Internal Revenue said employers should watch for the announcement of the effective date of the tax cut.

Beall Graduates Plan To Hold Summer Picnic

The graduating class of 1961 at Beall High School in Frostburg will hold a business meeting on Monday, February 24, at the Public Library in Frostburg at 8 p.m. to plan for a class picnic next summer.

Plans for the 15th reunion anniversary in 1966 will also be discussed. Members of the class are being urged to attend the meeting.

Anyone having addresses of members including those who have moved away are asked to bring them to the meeting or contact Mrs. Patsy (Murray) Kauffman, PA 2-1381 or Mrs. Dolly (Robertson) Shipley, PA 4-3379.

Legion Planning Spaghetti Dinner

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will sponsor a spaghetti dinner today from 5 to 8 p.m. in the post home in Ridgeley.

Tonight a buck night will be held at the post home from 8:30 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock. Members and guests are welcome.

Antique Auto Group Marks Anniversary

The Queen City Chapter of the Shenandoah Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America observed its first anniversary during a meeting this week at the Purple Heart Club.

Some 43 members and guests from Winchester, Va., Somerset, Berlin and Everett, Pa., and the immediate area heard a talk by A. H. Amick, who described a cross country trip made by the Amick family in 1915 in a 1911 Franklin automobile.

His talk was documented by excerpts from the trip diary and illustrated by photographs of road conditions encountered en route.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 9.

Railroads Name Planning Board

The formation of a joint Planning Department—unique in the railroad industry—was announced yesterday by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

"The mission of the Planning Department is to look into the future and to formulate plans and specifications for the full development of transportation potentials for the C & O-B & O system," Walter J. Tuohy, president of the C & O, and Jervis Langdon Jr., president of the B & O, said in a statement issued for both railroads. The two roads are affiliated as a step to merger.

Initially, the Planning Department will concentrate its efforts in three areas—transportation, engineering and equipment.

Appointed to head these divisions of the new department, for both railroads, are:

James A. Caywood, general manager engineering planning. Mr. Caywood is chief engineer of the B&O.

Lynn B. Coleman, general manager, transportation planning. Mr. Coleman joined C & O-B & O last November in a planning capacity.

He had been president of the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad. Kenneth T. Reed, general manager, mechanical planning. He was chief mechanical officer of the C & O before being assigned as general manager—motive power and equipment for C & O-B & O in February 1963.

These officers will have headquarters in Baltimore and will maintain a joint staff.

Northern Route Gets Go Ahead

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has withdrawn its objections to a northern route for the proposed Interstate 70, a four-lane highway between Hagerstown and Frederick.

August Schofer, regional engineer for the roads bureau, said Friday the government withdrew its objections after the State Roads Commission revised cost estimates.

But recent revision of cost estimates, Schofer said, nearly equalized the two, and the government declared its willingness to pay 90 per cent.

The 23-mile road is expected to cost about $1 million a mile. The northern route runs to the north of and parallel to U. S. 40 from Frederick to South Mountain. At the mountain it crosses U. S. 40 and continues parallel to Hagerstown.

Stronger Water Pollution Control Bill Introduced

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill which would greatly strengthen the powers of the state Water Pollution Control Commission was introduced Friday in the Maryland Senate.

The proposal would give the commission authority to seek injunctions to halt activities which are polluting waters in the state.

It also would make commission orders mandatory and provide for prosecution of persons who do not comply with the orders.

Valentine King, Queen Selected

Judy Rhodes was selected Queen and Leslie Henry the King of a Valentine Dance held Wednesday at the home of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, Ridgeley.

Approximately 75 teenage youths attended the affair and danced to the music of William Tabler and the Wanderers.

Runnerup royalty were Linda Netzer and William Bradshaw, Sharon Ashenfelter and William Snyder. The dance contest was won by Ellen Jewell and Brenda Saville.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a plaque to Commander K. Albert Wolfe by the Teen Club members in appreciation of the post sponsoring the organization.

Chaperones at the dance were Mrs. Elsie Leighty, Mrs. Mary Chaney, Mrs. Margaret Weber, Mrs. Vertie Chandler, Miss Kay Vandergrift and Mrs. Kinsall.

Tydings Plans Strong Fight In Allegany Co.

Joseph D. Tydings, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from Maryland, said that "we plan to put on a tremendous fight to win in Allegany County."

Mr. Tydings spoke at a dinner and reception Thursday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. He spent Thursday touring the county and various points in Cumberland.

After a breakfast with a group of supporters yesterday, he made additional visits in the city and at shopping centers. Early yesterday afternoon he left by plane for Baltimore for a meeting of his state-wide campaign committee.

Mr. Tydings told the group Thursday, including a number of labor union officials, that during his service in the Maryland House of Delegates he had voted against the so-called "right-to-work" legislation. "Such legislation is ridiculous and if I am elected to the U. S. Senate I would oppose similar measures on a national scale."

Speaking on the civil rights issue, Mr. Tydings said he is wholeheartedly in favor of the legislation now before Congress. He also said that he supports the medicare program as called for by President Johnson.

On such state-wide measures as Gov. Tawes' tax program he said he is opposed. "An increase in the income tax is not needed now," Mr. Tydings said, "as it would be a year or two before any such tax revenues would be needed." He said that many Democratic legislators are against the tax hike, including the state comptroller.

Mr. Tydings said that he backs President Johnson's tax cut program and he also approved the test ban treaty which the late President John F. Kennedy negotiated with Russia.

He said that he also is in favor of President Johnson's campaign against poverty and also the Appalachian program for the economic recovery of a number of states involved.

When the late President Kennedy was elected in 1960 he soon after named Mr. Tydings as U. S. district attorney for Maryland. "I am proud of the association I had with President Kennedy," he stated. He was the campaign manager for JFK in Maryland during the 1960 election and was also a close personal friend of the assassinated Chief Executive.

"I consider myself a New Frontiersman but would not be a 'rubber stamp' in my deliberations on Congressional legislation," he declared.

Handling his campaign in Allegany County will be Thomas F. Conlon, local insurance executive, and Mrs. Jim McQuown, prominent in Democratic women's club circles. Mr. Conlon served with Mr. Tydings in the House of Delegates for two years.

County Awards Contract For Bridge Project

The low bid of the Miller and Greenland Company, Huntington, Pa., to construct a bridge and approaches on Black Valley Road across Flintstone Creek was accepted yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The firm offered to do the work for $49,501. The two other bidders were within $700 of the low offer. The county board was instructed to send a check for $29,726 to the State Roads Commission as its share of the federal aid project.

Baker-Wibberly and Associates, a Hagerstown firm of engineering consultants, designed the bridge and after an analysis of the bids recommended the low offer be accepted. This followed earlier action by Albert S. Paye, county engineer and Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor, in recommending acceptance of the low bid.

A total of $4,950 for extra services on the project has been added to make the total cost $56,926.

Calls Beatles Bored

LONDON (UPI) — A Daily Telegraph columnist Peter Simple said Friday "the Beatles, who began as a mildly irritating craze, have now become one of the most colossal bores which have ever afflicted mankind."

"Having said that, I now resolve never to speak, write or think about them again."

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 352 Ambrose E. Burnside had not wanted to be commander of the Army of the Potomac in succession to George B. McClellan. After two refusals of the post, he accepted at the urging of other generals who feared that Lincoln and Stanton would make a worse choice than Burnside. Relieved after his mishandling of the army at Fredericksburg, the Indian was happy to be placed in a lower command.

In September 1863, he was acquitting the judgment of Lincoln and Stanton in giving him another chance by placing him at the head of the Army of the Ohio.

When Burnside took command, Confederates held Cumberland Gap, at the border of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, about 45 miles northeast of Knoxville. It had been a gateway for travelers through the Appalachians since its discovery by Thomas Walker in 1780; it was the route for Daniel Boone and those who followed him from the coastal plain into "the Dark and Bloody Land" they named Kentucky.

Naturally, Cumberland Gap was a strategic point that changed hands several times in 1861 and 1862. A Rebel fort overlooking the narrow defile, held by some 2,500 men under Gen. John W. Frazer, became the object of a campaign his old fellow student at West Point, Burnside, directed effectively. Frazer was forced to surrender by the outcome of a three-day battle that September of 1863.

The Burnside victory deprived the Rebels of a lateral railway line between Chattanooga and the east. The Gap remained in Union hands the remainder of the war.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

James Perrin Renamed To Zoning Board

James A. Perrin, local real estate man, yesterday was renamed to the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission by the county commissioners.

Mr. Perrin's first term on the commission expires this week and upon motion of Commissioner Russell Carder and unanimously passed he will serve a new five-year term on the group.

The county board also received a request from C. Lee Renaud, director of the Planning and Zoning Commission, to ask the Civil Service Commission to hold an examination for a secretary for the office.

Mrs. Buena Wilson has been secretary on a temporary basis for six months.

The commissioners granted a two-week military leave to Joseph D. Shober, an employee of the County Roads Department. His leave will start February 23.

Edmund D. Dawson, a male practical nurse at Sylvan Retreat, has completed his six-month probationary period and has been granted permanent status under the Civil Service system. Kenneth W. Messmer, superintendent of the institution, said Mr. Dawson's work has been satisfactory.

Local Men Check Plant Possibility

Two local men have been in New York the past two days looking into the possibility of a new plant locating in Cumberland, according to Everett G. Partridge, director of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company.

Mr. Partridge did not divulge the type of plant which is being contacted.

Making the trip are Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and C. M. Sanner, secretary-treasurer of the Phoenix Construction Company. The two were expected to return last night.

Bids Are Asked For Workshop Quarters Here

Bids for the construction of a new Maryland Workshop for the Blind here will be received until 2 p. m. Friday, February 21, by the Maryland Department of Public Improvements, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore.

The new one-story modern building will be located on two lots purchased by the workshop at the corner of Walnut Place and Poca Street.

The new quarters will replace those established in 1957 in the former plant of the National Jet Company on Milton Place.

Del. Charles M. See, director of the workshop, said the larger facilities will enable an expansion of the program offered blind persons of the three western counties.

The building will be made of concrete block faced with brick. The architect is S. Russ Minter of Cumberland.

Getty Explains New County Tax Setup

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday submitted an opinion pertaining to the recent change of the tax year.

Mr. Getty said that all property transfers which take place between January 1, 1964 and June 30, 1964 are not subject to an adjustment on the taxes during this period.

No taxes are being assessed or collected for the January 1, 1964 to June 30, 1964 period, he pointed out.

He recommended that all banks and lending institutions be formally advised of this fact so that the adjusting practices will be uniform. This will eliminate some confusion which has arisen with regard to the effect of a resolution passed changing the tax year to a fiscal one. July 1, 1964 to June 30, 1965.

Sport Club's Valentine Party Held

The monthly dinner meeting of the Women's Sport Club was held in the form of a Valentine party, Thursday evening. It was at the Fort Cumberland Hotel and after a cocktail hour the dinner was served in the ballroom. The invocation was offered by Mrs. Esther Stevens. Table decorations were in keeping with the holiday motif. The centerpiece on the officers table consisted of red and white carnations, red candles and a large red heart. Similar decorations were used on the other tables. Ball point pens and small stone pitchers were given as favors.

Mrs. Frances Amen extended the welcome and conducted a brief business session. It was announced that the next meeting will be March 11 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Rosalie Evans will be chairman, assisted by Mrs. Helen Thomas and Mrs. Eleanor Lavin.

Special prizes were won by Mrs. Marie Payne, Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger, Mrs. Edith Shantholtz, Mrs. Mary Miller, Miss Anna Lottig, Mrs. Madelyn Rizer and Mrs. Helen Thomas.

Cards concluded the evening with prizes wrapped in keeping with the Valentine motif. First prize in bridge, won by Mrs. Sylvia Mattingly was a heart shaped ceramic table centerpiece; second, a heart shaped condiment set was won by Mrs. Rosalie Everstine; and third, red heart shaped pot holders, Miss Lottig. Similar prizes were awarded in 500, to Mrs. Julia Newman, Miss Adelaide Hession and Miss Aurelia Drenning.

Mrs. Stevens was chairman for the evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Hazel Keech and Mrs. Catherine Yarnall. Guests were Miss Drenning, Mrs. Everstine, Mrs. Rose Hay, Mrs. Mary Hiner, Mrs. Mattingly, Mrs. Edna Murphy, Mrs. Gwendolyn Price, Mrs. Ada Short, Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Newman.

Other members present were Mrs. Frances Brown, Mrs. Ellen Carroll, Mrs. Rosalie Evans, Mrs. Martha Gerkins, Miss Elizabeth Hoover, Mrs. Marion Huhbs, Mrs. Mabel Pierce, Mrs. Margaret Pompei Woltz, Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus, Mrs. Veronica Schleifman, Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf, Mrs. LaVerne Tewell and Mrs. Thomas.

Committee Appointed

A nominating committee was appointed at the meeting of the Fairview Avenue WSCS, held in the church basement. It consists of Mrs. Anita Miller, Mrs. Mabel Watkins, Mrs. Dorothy Bauer and Mrs. Hilda Hawkins. The interfaith tea at B'er Chayim Temple, February 19 was discussed. Mrs. Vallie Welker, Mrs. Elizabeth Markwood and Mrs. Bertha Nies will represent the society. A thank you card was received from the Sansom family.

The program on today's missions was presented by Mrs. Robert Webster, Mrs. Welker, Mrs. Mabel Watkins, Mrs. Louise Sansom, Mrs. Bertha Nies, Mrs. Lola Stewart, and Mrs. Mary Louise Wilson. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Sansom. A social followed the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Nina Caldwell and Mrs. Markwood.

Jaycees Receive Reports On Project, Spring-O-Rama

Projects were discussed at the monthly dinner meeting of the Cumberland Jaycees conducted by Mrs. Richard Cover, Wednesday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. A letter was read from the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association and the group voted a $10 contribution. Mrs. Roy Hartell, social chairman, gave a final report on the Cupid Capers dance tonight at the Shrine Club. The semi-formal affair will be from 10 until 1 with the Gentlemen of Note playing. A trip for two to the New York World's Fair will be awarded. Tickets for the dance may be purchased at the door.

The project of redecorating the student lounge at Allegany Community College was reported by Mrs. Jean Krampf. She said the wall murals have been completed by several art students from Fort Hill and Allegany. Other decorations to add to the nautical theme are to be placed in the lounge shortly.

It was announced that Mrs. Peggy Mackert has been named commentator for the Jaycees Spring-O-Rama. Mrs. Walter Bosley also said the buffet dinner and style show and dance will be at the Shrine Club, April 17, beginning at 6:30 John Ritch-

Activities Outlined

Activities were planned at the meeting of the Elliott Memorial WSCS recently. The nominating committee will report in March. It consists of Mrs. Blanche DeSoto, Mrs. Edith Flora and Mrs. Mildred Kirby. An auction sale was planned for May 23, to be held at Union Grove club house; and a strawberry festival June 13, at the church grounds. A play pen with pad was presented to the Sunday school nursery.

A recreational period was under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor O'Brien.

Civic Club To Hear Speaker

Mrs. Brice Shoemaker will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Woman's Civic Club to be held on Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the club house.

Mrs. Shoemaker is the wife of the pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church. She has received her master's degree in welfare work from the University of Pennsylvania and at present is working on her doctorate. Mrs. Shoemaker has worked in private and public welfare in the United States, Germany, and Scotland.

The meeting will be followed by a tea sponsored by the Welfare Group.

Girls Will Receive Awards

Awards will be made to members of the Junior Girl Scout Troop 99, at the meeting Monday, at which time the troop will have a practice of the flag ceremony it will present for the Cresaptown PTA, which sponsors the troop.

The troop, which was reorganized last April, is composed of girls from 9 to 11 and meets at 3:30 each Monday at the Cresaptown School. The first project of the troop was completing 53 Valentine trays for Sacred Heart Hospital, which were delivered Wednesday. It was part of the craft project. The flag ceremony for the PTA meeting, Thursday is for the citizenship badge.

Mrs. Franklin H. Young, leader, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Llewellyn will present the awards. Niki Haycock, Deborah Simmons and Patricia Lease will receive their Dignity wings, Louanna Twigg, Ruth Ann Young, Cathy Herschberger, Darlene Thrasher and the three mentioned will receive attendance stars; Linda Llewellyn, Bridget Mason, Pamela Kneisley, Deborah Balderson and Dena Hausman, word association badges. Carol Weakley, who transferred from LaVale, has the three awards.

Will Discuss Australian Politics

The general meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland will be held in the form of a covered dish supper, February 19. It will be at the Woman's Civic Club house, beginning at 6 o'clock.

A program will follow the supper, it will consist of a discussion of politics in Australia by Catherine Favaloro, American Field Service student attending Allegany High School. A question and answer period will follow her talk.

Mrs. George Barnard will conduct the business session concluding the evening. At that time a nominating committee is to be elected, to select a slate for recording secretary; corresponding secretary, financial secretary and treasurer. It will report at the April meeting and installation will be in June.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father is constantly urging me to accept dates with his boss' son. Chauncy digs me but he's a creep.

In the first place, Chauncy doesn't dance and has no desire to learn. He thinks my friends are weirdies and I think his friends are stuck-up and boring. Every time I light a cigarette, Chauncy gives me a lecture on lung cancer. If I order French fries he goes on and on about fried food and stomach trouble.

Chauncy's idea of a blast is to go somewhere with his parents. My idea of fun is to get as far away as possible from the old museum pieces.

I'm 16 and mature enough to pick my own friends. Please say so in your column and get my father off my back.

SACRIFICIAL LAMB

DEAR LAMB: It's always a mistake for parents to try to play Cupid for their children. Some perfectly good romances are knocked right in the head because of parental sponsorship.

In this case it's especially unfortunate because if you had discovered Chauncy on your own you might have liked him—and perhaps even learned something in the bargain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a husband who expects perfection in all our friends? Last night I counted 20 couples with whom we were once on very good terms. We don't see these people anymore because my husband has picked them to pieces.

The longest we've been able to maintain a friendship is about two years. After that the woman's laugh becomes irritating, or the husband brags too much, or he cheats at cards or his wife wears too much eye makeup.

Last night it happened again. After Mr. and Mrs. X left, my husband said, "Well, that's enough of them. Can you imagine anybody in his right mind supporting Scranton for President? Don't invite them here again and don't accept any invitations to their place." Please tell me what to do.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 24-year-old daughter was divorced in 1961. Since that time I have been taking care of her children while she works. The oldest is in the first grade and the youngest will be ready for kindergarten next fall.

I love my grandchildren very much but they wear me out and tie me down. I've been looking forward to the time when both children would be in school so I could take it easier.

Yesterday my daughter told me she is pregnant. The man is not able to marry her as he has a wife and family. I want her to go to a home for unwed mothers and put the baby up for adoption, but she wants to keep the child. When I told her I don't have the strength to raise another child, she called me a terrible mother and said I was letting her down when she needed me most.

Now I feel guilty. Please straighten around my problem. —BIG DECISION

DEAR DECISION: It's the same old story — "What have you done for me lately?" Don't ask your daughter — tell her that you will not raise the child and let her know she has no choice. Your suggestion is by far the best for the child, the mother, and for you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Second row are James Moreland, Miss Eudora Apple, Mrs. Janice Burchard Deffenbaugh and Richard F. Bittner. The 10th anniversary reunion will be held in the form of a dinner and dance August 8 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Plans also include a picnic the following day for members to bring their families.

Models, Committees Are Named

Committees and models for the "Spring Beauty" style show and card party, to be sponsored by the Woman's Civic Club, have been appointed. The social will be held March 3 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning at 8 o'clock. Fashions will be by Martin's and shoes and bags from Shinnamon's. A special invitation is being extended to the men. Patrons may play any game of their choice. Besides table prizes, grand prizes, and special prizes, there will be favors also.

Models will be Mrs. Harry Barton, Mrs. William Bruce, Mrs. Robert Dezen, Mrs. Edward Dove, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks, Mrs. Raymond Lapp, Jr., Mrs. Sander Levine, Miss Joan MacDonald, Mrs. John MacVeigh, Mrs. David Miller, Mrs. K. O. Nelson, Mrs. Raymond Shields, Mrs. Edward Solomon and Mrs. Norman Taylor.

There will be a candy table and popcorn stand with Mrs. Harry Grimes, Mrs. Frank Tepper, Miss Eileen Biesemeier in charge.

Refreshments are being prepared and served by members of the committee with Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt and Mrs. G. William Harrison as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Hopkins, Mrs. William Patterson, Mrs. James Anon, Mrs. Harry Grimes, Mrs. Carl Daum, Mrs. Joseph Rogione and Mrs. William Holl.

Tickets are on sale and may be purchased from any member of the Ways and Means committee. They also will be sold at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, March 2 from 10 until 3; and at the door March 3. The deadline for returning unused tickets and money is February 29.

Mrs. Albert Heacock will make the welcome address and introduce Mrs. Benjamin R. Lewis, Jr., the commentator. Mary Beth Lewis will be page girl. Members of the committee are Mrs. W. E. Channell, general chairman; Mrs. A. C. Evans, vice chairman; Mrs. Aaron, Mrs. Harold Biesemeier, Mrs. Daum, Mrs. Walter Fraley, Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Thomas Keech, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Nesbitt, Mrs. William Patterson, Mrs. Henry Porter, Mrs. Rogione, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Solomon, Mrs. Tepper and Mrs. Richard Workman.

Ticket chairman is Mrs. Biesemeier, assisted by Mrs. Fraley and Mrs. Rogione; prizes, Mrs. Miller; model assistants, Mrs. Keech, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Daum, Mrs. Workman; programs, Mrs. Richard Kirsch, Mrs. Raymond MacDonald; publicity, Mrs. Solomon; and decorations, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Biesemeier, Mrs. Fraley, Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs. Channell.

A Valentine party will be held by the Ralleettes in conjunction with the meeting Monday at the American Legion home.

A fried chicken supper will be held at Bedford Road fire hall tonight from 5 until 8.

A rummage sale will be held from 10 until noon today at Fairview Avenue Methodist Church.

February 22 Leap Year Party Arrangements Made

Alpha Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, elected a nominating committee and received reports at the meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Betty Jo Moran. Mrs. Phyllis Billingsley presided.

Final arrangements were made for the Leap Year party to be held at the home of Mrs. Mildred Russell, February 22, beginning at 9 p. m. All members and guests are invited.

Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Verna Walsh were elected to the nominating committee. The chapter voted $10 to the Heart Association.

Committee reports were given. Mrs. Betty Barnes, for ways and means said all members are to bring shoes to the next meeting. This will complete the costume each is to wear for the "Mystery Fashion" show in March. A houseware party will be held the second Wednesday in May. All members are to bring guests. The annual spring rummage sale will be held the first of April. The next meeting will be

Brotherhood Program To Be Given

B'er Chayim Sisterhood has extended invitations to all church group auxiliaries to attend the "Brotherhood Week" program it is sponsoring on "Religion in the Home" which will be held February 19 at 1:30 at the temple.

The observance next week is to further understanding among persons of all culture and religions, and remind people to live according to the principles of brotherhood and justice. The idea to promote brotherhood was advanced by Father McMenamin of Denver, Colo., in 1929. By 1946 by enthusiastic response the celebration turned from a day to a week, and is sponsored by the National Council of Christians and Jews.

A program, arranged by Mrs. Harry Beneman will be presented by Mrs. Norman F. Geatz, for the Catholic home; Mrs. Ralph Isminger, the Protestant home; and Mrs. Arthur Friedland, the Jewish home. Music will be by Mrs. Joyce Zornig.

Tea will be served by the Sisterhood after the program. Mrs. A. J. Mirkin is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Brodell, Mrs. Paul Castelle, Mrs. Robert Cerson, Mrs. Barnett Leibowitz, Mrs. Clarence Lippel, Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum and Mrs. S. G. Weisman. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Mirkin, PA 2-5099.

To Compete

One student from Allegany High School and 14 from Fort Hill will compete today in the national majorette contest in the Washington Coliseum. They are Suelen Slover of Allegany; Gayle Proudfoot, Constance Cooper, Carol Hendrickson, Ann Gregg Christopher, Joyce DuRocher, Claudia Bearinger, Patricia Rice, DeEtta Growden, Linda Thompson, Pamela Miller, Marsha Rymer, Ann Brant, Diana Godeon and Brenda Ruby, Fort Hill.

Smorgasbord To Be March 8

March 8 has been selected as the date for the 10th annual smorgasbord, sponsored by the St. Patrick's Sodality. It will be held as usual in the social center, from 1 until 6 p. m.

The theme is "Triumphant and Tasty". The public is invited to attend.

Perk Up Posture

Now place the back of your hands against the wall just about level with your ears. Keeping the backs of your arms and hands against the wall, straighten your arms out overhead as slowly as you can split inch by split inch. Then, bending your elbows sharply, return them in starting position and repeat. You will find about ten of these enough to do at the outset. Increase to forty times daily as rapidly as you can.

For variation, you can perform the same exercise lying on the floor with your knees bent and your feet pulled up close to the buttocks. Slide the backs of your hands from ear-level straight up above your shoulders just as in the wall version of the exercise.

Be faithful and you'll notice improvement in a couple of months. Continue and by vacation time your back will no longer be a threat to your youth nor a problem in fitting clothes. Improved posture, a better figure and a cut in alteration costs should be benefits enough to keep you at your exercises until accomplishment is yours!

Seal yourself on the floor with your back right up against a wall. Straighten your back as well as you can yes, this is also a posture exercise and just what you need!

Predicting Nominee Can Be Stimulating

Amateur politicians and pollsters are having a field day predicting who will be the Republican nominee for the presidency. It is fine sport and mentally stimulating.

But they are wasting their time predicting the possibilities for the Democratic vice presidential nomination. That choice certainly will be President Johnson's.

And the President is not likely to make up his mind until after the Republican nominating convention. Since the vice presidency has come to be recognized as an important office by the voters, much more attention is given to the selection of a candidate.

President Johnson is a clever politician and is unlikely to invite trouble by choosing a partner prematurely. The Republican convention will disclose the mood which dictated the GOP choices. This will influence his own choice.

Doubtless he will pick a man to make the ticket look strong in areas where he may be weak. But what appears to be a weakness now may be strength after the GOP choices are made, and vice versa. So there is little mileage now in trying to predict the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

The pundits should stick to guessing the Republican presidential nominee. That is stimulating. But trying to finger the Democratic nominee for the second spot can be only frustrating.

These Days

Khrushchev Has An "Out"

As this is being written, the big Soviet confab on agricultural policy is taking place in the Kremlin against the background of successive crop failures. Somehow this takes one back to the year of 1923 in the Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts. The Pilgrims, like the Russians, had been struggling with an agricultural plan imposed by a collectivist theory. Nobody could own the land he worked. The young men of the colony were grumbling that their labor went to feed the children of able-bodied married elders; husbands represented the fact that their wives had to slave not only for their own families but for the Plymouth bachelors. So nobody worked any more than a grudging prudence dictated, and the carryover of food was running out even before the 1623 summer planting.

Fortunately for the Plymouth Colony, its leader, Governor William Bradford, was a philosopher, not an ideologist. He was a student of comparative systems, not an arbitrary believer in any one system. And he mused, as he confronted the need for a decision on Plymouth farming practice, on "the vanity of that conceit of Plato's and other ancients, applauded by some of later times, that the taking away of property, and bringing in community into a common wealth, would make them happy and flourishing: as if they were wiser than God."

The retreat from the communal system of farming brought plenty to Plymouth. If I were a correspondent in Moscow, and could get the ear of Khrushchev, I would call the Plymouth story to the attention of the wily pragmatist who has tried just about everything he can think of to get Russian agriculture moving on a collectivist basis. Who knows, maybe Khrushchev might have that final bit of elasticity needed to make him ponder on "the vanity" of a fallacy as old as Plato.

Khrushchev wouldn't have to be shamefaced about becoming the Governor Bradford of Russia. For the current Soviet agricultural troubles are the result of Stalin's policies, and Khrushchev, as everyone knows, has been turning his back on the memory of Stalin.

Look at the mess that the Stalinization of Russian farming has brought about! Some ninety-five percent of the total usable acreage in Russia is farmed by collectivist practices. The peasants, fighting a defensive war, have retained the right to a little less than five per cent of the land for private plots. Yet out of these private plots there comes almost half the green vegetables, half the meat and milk, sixty per cent of the potatoes, and three-fourths of the eggs that are consumed by two hundred million people.

The peasant tends his garden with love wherever the bureaucrat leaves him alone. But the collective and state farms have gone from bad to worse, and now, for lack of feed, the peasants are once again slaughtering pigs. The best agricultural machinery has been committed to the so-called "virgin lands" of Central Asia, but nature in this region is "agin'" anything except grazing. Wheat production on the virgin lands has declined year by year since 1956. Meanwhile, on the good wheat lands of the Ukraine and elsewhere, the second-rate machinery has gone to pieces. And the spare parts necessary to renovate tractors and harvesters haven't been available.

Reaching wildly for one last panacea, Khrushchev has decided that chemical fertilizers are the answer. But the chemical fertilizer requirements for an agriculture that dispenses with crop rotation and the maintenance of enough pasture lands to supply animal manures are staggering. Khrushchev as the big agricultural policy meeting in the Kremlin gets under way, has set a chemical fertilizer production target of 24 million tons for 1964. But he needs at least 70 million tons if Russia is to feed itself. A chemical industry takes years to mature, as the history of the United States between 1920 and 1950 proves. It demands a stretching of basic supplies of iron and other minerals merely to get the raw materials for machinery. Something in Russia will have to give—let us say military tanks, missile manufacturing machinery, locomotives, freight cars and all the other things needed for an industrial civilization.

Russia could still surmount its troubles if it only had the elasticity to forget ideology and let the peasant revert to his status under Lenin's New Economic Policy of the Twenties. It could be an easy decision for Khrushchev; after all, he could make it the final gesture in his repudiation of Stalin.

Johnson Mistaken About Value Of Criticism

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is learning the hard way. He has naturally felt the weight of his responsibility as world problems have recently borne down on him. But he will discover sooner or later that his recently expressed concept disparaging the value of criticism is mistaken.

It may sound like a paradox, but the level of spontaneous criticism by the people is the President's most valuable asset in arguing with foreign governments. For the White House and State Department cannot express themselves as a rule except in the formal language of diplomacy. What the members of Congress say, however, is, after all, a reflection of public sentiment.

Whether it portrays the views of a minority of the people today or a majority tomorrow and thus foretells future policy trends, the heads of governments abroad cannot brush it aside as inconsequential. It often affects or influences counter-policy.

President Johnson is experiencing, of course, for the first time the kind of criticism which is hard for any chief executive to answer when crises of various kinds are pressing him. Foreign governments, particularly the mischief makers in the Kremlin, are calling the turn in Vietnam, in Zanzibar, in Cyprus, in the Congo, in Panama and in Cuba. Mr. Johnson, in an informal talk to Internal Revenue Service officials on Tuesday, spoke not so much on tax problems but on things around the world that evidently were very much on his mind and in the headlines. He said:

"All of these are distresses, and from time to time you will hear alarmists and people who like to jump on their government, people who like to criticize, people who find it quite impossible to be affirmative and constructive. They will join with some of our opponents and they will be almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies."

It's rather surprising to hear the word "enemies" applied to those members of Congress who disagree with the President and for them to be lumped with our real enemies abroad. One has only to recall what was being said by Democrats during another presidential campaign just four years ago when President Eisenhower was striving to protect the American people and defeat preparations for a nuclear attack as he permitted U-2 planes to fly periodically over the Soviet Union. The Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee minced no words in his criticism of the administration's handling of this episode, and a little later on Senator John F. Kennedy, as the Democratic Presidential nominee, didn't hesitate to speak out on everything from the U-2 affair to the failure to take strong action against Castro in Cuba.

Under a totalitarian form of government, the national parliament as well as the press is suppressed or required to take the same view as does the head of the government. But in the United States, while partisanship is supposed to "end at the water's edge," criticisms that can help to protect the American people against humiliating defeats in foreign policy are not suppressed or limited in any way, even by the water's edge.

Mr. Johnson says that criticism should be "affirmative and constructive." But what he really is saying is that comment is obnoxious or unpleasant unless it agrees with the policy being followed by the administration. Just the opposite viewpoint is held by the critics themselves, irrespective of party.

Today the criticism of the administration's policy in Cuba is that it is weak and irresolute and that it can lead to further offenses by Castro against the United States unless he is dealt with firmly now. The President has been urged to impose an effective economic blockade on Cuba, but he has ignored such constructive suggestions. He has

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

REAL SECRET STUFF—Rep. Otis Pike, of New York, is getting somewhat impatient with censorship at the Pentagon. To display his unhappiness he issued something new, a self-censored press release that reads as follows:

"I have called the attention of my colleagues of the House to a thing called VAL. VAL is not a fellow's name, but it is a new Navy aircraft. I am allowed to mention the name."

The Navy proposes to buy SECRET of them at a cost of SECRET dollars. I do not know whom the Navy proposes to buy them from, but a fair amount of research on my part has convinced me that the Navy is making a SECRET SECRET mistake.

THE BIG, BIG, BIG TALK—A constituent of Sen. Kenneth E. Keating of New York wrote him that while he had read the word in the newspapers from time to time he never knew its meaning until she saw it "referred to recently as a 'talkathon.'"

"I agree," replied Keating, adding, "and I'd like to offer a suggestion of my own from the standpoint of one who has to listen to filibusters: 'Borathon.'"

There Must Be A Million Remedies For Warts

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The Russians report using liquid nitrogen to remove warts from the face, hands, and feet. One or two applications are given for those on the face and up to three on the hands. Many more are needed for plantar warts on the soles, according to the story in a recent issue of Medical World News.

We wrote about this method in 1955. Dr. Wayne Wright of Oakland, Cal., analyzed the results of eight different remedies on a group of 451 plantar wart patients. He found liquid nitrogen superior to electrocautery, X-ray, carbon dioxide snow, and the local injection of a variety of substances. Within 36 to 48 hours after applying liquid nitrogen, the wart could be scooped out with a scalpel or a scalpel blade. The cure rate was 78.7 per cent.

More than a year ago we wrote about the hot water technique. The warts are soaked for an hour or more and the trick is to keep the temperature of the water between 113 and 118 degrees F. Several immersions are necessary. We have not seen a follow-up report on this method but it is harmless and worth trying on youngsters with numerous warts and plenty of time.

The trouble with trying to evaluate these therapies is that warts—or their owners—are so susceptible to suggestion. Warts have disappeared after rubbing with a kernel of corn or a potato peeling, provided the victim is convinced of the magic power of the substance. Good results from more scientific treatments may have the same psychological basis.

The psychic effect is difficult to understand because warts are caused by a virus. They are slightly contagious and prefer areas of skin subjected to injury or prolonged pressure. This may explain why the fingers, hands, and wrists are the most frequent involved sites. The majority reach a certain size and stay that way for months or years. They are more annoying than serious but the tendency is to toy with them until they become irritated

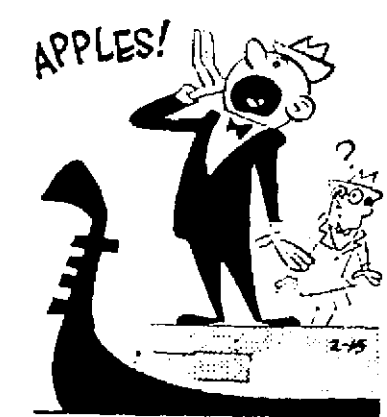

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Drew Dudley tells about the American tourist in Venice who heard a man hollering, "Apples! Buy your apples here! Only a dime apiece." The American tapped the man on the shoulder and commented, "You poor sap. Nobody here understands one word of English—and they buy in lire, not dimes."

A beatific smile broke out on the man's face. "You're the very man I've been waiting for," he said happily. "Tell me how I get from here to the San Marco Cathedral."

In Ohio there lives a medical student who spent his summer vacation building up his sadly depleted cash reserve. He worked as a butcher in the day time and was a hospital orderly at night. Both jobs, of course, involved wearing similar white uniforms. One evening he was instructed to wheel a patient on a stretcher into surgery. The patient, a stout, very frightened lady, looked up at the student and let out an unearthly scream. "My God!" she wailed. "It's my butcher!"

"Coming home with an empty pail," grumbled a farmer to his new apprentice. "Didn't that dratted cow give anything?" "He sure did," answered the apprentice. "Nine pails and one swift kick."

Clark Mollenhoff Leads Fight Against Rowan Confirmation

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Clark Mollenhoff, redoubtable and indefatigable Des Moines Register correspondent, is waging a one-man crusade against the Senate confirmation of Johnson's No. 1 Negro appointee, ambassador Carl Rowan, to be director of U.S. Information, replacing ailing Edward R. Murrow.

It happens that Rowan and Mollenhoff used to work for the same journalistic combination—the Cowles Brothers publications in Des Moines and Minneapolis. They fell out when Rowan made a speech in New York stating that some newspapermen were genuinely interested in free news dissemination by government; some were "merely interested in earning a buck."

Rowan, then working in the State Department, says Mollenhoff called his then chief, Roger Tubby, in protest, apparently wanting him relieved of his job. Rowan then phoned Mollenhoff, told him: "Any job you can get I don't want."

Mollenhoff's move to defeat Rowan as director of USIA is being carried on through Sen. Burke Hickel, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, who has told other Senators that no Negro is qualified to tell the story of the United States abroad; he's not objective.

Williams Detested
Governor Elbert Carvel of Delaware is the only Democrat so far who's punctured the great myth of Sen. John Williams of Delaware as the unrelenting investigator.

Governor Carvel wants to know why Williams concentrated on the $542 stereo set to President Johnson but completely ignored approximately $508,000 in cash gifts to the Gettysburg farm when President Eisenhower was in office.

"Senator Williams was the great and courageous investigator when it came to a $1,200 deep freeze given to Mrs. Harry Truman and when it came to a few $10 hams in the Truman administration," said Gov. Carvel.

"But when it came to thousands and thousands of dollars worth of gifts to President Eisenhower for his Gettysburg farm, Senator Williams said nothing. He put his tail between his legs like a whipped dog. He was the great snooper during the Truman administration, and he started snooping again under Kennedy and Johnson. But during the Republican administration, under President Eisenhower, he didn't want any snoopers around."

LBJ Rides Herd
LBJ as president is riding herd on the Senate just as carefully as he did as Senate majority leader.

It isn't supposed to be published, but Johnson has prepared, in cooperation with Senate leaders, a tentative schedule of hearings for the appropriations committee, which has jurisdiction over the money bills. These are the bills which really turn the machinery of government, and at the last session some of them were delayed until a few days before Christmas. In the interim, government bureaus had to function on temporary funds.

But this year the Johnson schedule calls for hearings on the Foreign Aid Bill—one of the most controversial—to start in the Senate on June 1 and be over by June 19. In the past, foreign aid hasn't been taken up until around

August. Johnson is pushing so hard on this, that ten days ago he staged a special White House dinner with Congressional leaders to discuss the form of the foreign aid bill.

Also on the tentative schedule: The Interior Department hearings are set for Feb. 19, to be finished by March 6, with action on the House floor March 17.

The Treasury-Post Office Bill is scheduled for hearings on April 1 ending April 7, with House action March 24.

The Labor-HEW appropriations hearings are scheduled to end May 15. Defense Department hearings May 20. State, Justice, Commerce, and the Judiciary hearings are to end May 22; Independent Offices May 29; Public Works on June 10.

That's how LBJ is trying to keep in the groove the most uncontrollable legislative body in the world.

P.N. AT THE DENTIST'S—National Children's Dental Health Week featured oversized toothbrushes and a set of oversized teeth as a gimmick to dispel children's fear of dental care. The idea was hatched by Mrs. Helen Blumberg of Rydal, Pa., when her 4-year-old screamed at the thought of going to the dentist. She decided that visits to the dentist should be made a game, not a nightmare, and that toys illustrating the fun of tooth care were the best way to do it.

AUTOMATED AMBASSADOR—Ambassador to Switzerland True Davis has made a hit with the Swiss by using his business know-how to help solve their labor shortage.

To man their booming factories, the Swiss have already imported 800,000 foreign workers. Davis suggested that instead they introduce a little more automation, to reduce the need for manpower.

The Swiss were so intrigued that Ambassador Davis has arranged to exhibit some of the latest American automatic devices at an industrial fair in Zurich.

Who is afraid? Not me. I waited a whole forty-eight hours after the Surgeon General's report on cigarette smoking before I got my X-rays. Of course, all the cowards were already there. Some were bouncing from one radiologist to another in a jerky dance called the "Caricature Samba." They couldn't accept good news. They had to check it.

Me, I just walked in, puffing like an old wood-burning locomotive, and put on my best brave grin for the red-haired receptionist. "Dr. Vincent Whelan in?" I said, timing my cough between Vincent and Whelan. She leaned back, lit her brand new little pipe, and took a deep drag.

"Yes," she said. "He and Dr. Dedick are expecting you." At once, the whole room full of readers looked up. Most of them had been scanning the same paragraph for a half hour. They gave me the pitying glance you reserve for an old pal who is on the way out.

I hummed a few bars from an old saloon I once knew. This was savoir faire. The people in the reception room knew it. "I wish," I said to the receptionist, "that I had bought a piece of an X-ray laboratory before the cigarette report came out. I'd be rich." She made a grimace at her pipe, and opened the safe and removed a cigarette. I held out my lighter. She took a drag. I inhaled her exhale. It almost amounts to a flirtation.

Inside, I was escorted to a casket standing on its end, with an electric light in it. This is for undressing. I shed my clothes and put on a backward nightgown which, I would surmise, had been starched in the wrong places. The people out in the waiting room thought that I was afraid. How wrong. How wrong. I was terrified.

At this point, I blacked out. Not truly, I felt the brave smile on, but my motions were mechanical and a lady roentgenologist escorted me to a room where there was a black table, and a copy camera hanging over it. I tried to hide my bare legs, but crutching made me resemble the Hunchback of Notre Dame playing Dr. Kildare.

"On your side . . . Now, pull the right leg up . . . Take a breath . . . Hold it . . . Now breathe." The lady flipped me onto the other side, and I began to dwell on how much time I had wasted worrying about the hydrogen bomb. I wondered what I worried about before there was a hydrogen bomb. My teeth, perhaps. Or a heart attack. Yes, it must have been a heart attack because every man goes through a cardiac phase.

When I was a little boy, it was spending money. Then it was report cards. Then a profession. Then girls. Then money. After that, marriage. A family. Funny, I never worried about a family before I had one. The moment we had children, I began to worry about them. They looked pale. Or their breathing didn't sound right. Or they had a temperature. Or their knees were on crooked. After that, life insurance. Oh yes, that too was a phase. Salesmen kept asking me what was going to happen to my little darlings if anything happened to me. There was always a first class worry. Now it was cigarettes. Good grief, if they took those away, I'd have nothing. I'd be back to chewing gum. Or playing with a goldplated yo-yo.

The lady paid no attention, other than to shift me back and forth. When it was over, I still wore the happy smile. It was like lockjaw of the cheeks. I couldn't get rid of it. I went back into the pine casket and dressed. The receptionist went through in a cloud of smoke, and said "Hi." I said "Hi," although I felt low. When I dressed, Dr. Whelan and Dr. Dedick stood in front of a mail drop. Out came X-rays, slowly, tantalizingly. They were dry. The doctors set the plates up in front of a framed light and studied them. "Hmmm," said Whelan pointing. "Hmmm," said Dedick. I couldn't stand it anymore, so I lit a cigarette.

At once, I felt better. I began to think of all the hundreds of thousands of men and women who were having X-rays made all over the U. S. I thought of all the others who didn't have time to get X-rays because they were busy reading all the reports on cigarettes. One said that our little chests were being bombarded with radiation.

"Maybe I don't need X-rays," I said casually. "Maybe I need a geiger counter." Whelan hmmm'd again. So did Dedick. Then Whelan said: "Nice and clear. Nothing there." Dr. Dedick agreed. Clear, clean lungs, fresh-smelling as a field of daisies. "Forty years of heavy smoking," I said. Dr. Whelan shook his head.

"You show a definite increase in spinal arthritis," he said, pointing. I wasn't listening. What's a little thing like arthritis of the spine? After what I had been through, it was like a bonus. On the way out, I passed the receptionist, who had red hair and a cigarette in each ear.

"Have you heard the latest?" I said. "New holdup technique. You just walk into a bank, and up to the teller's cage. You say, 'Gimme the money or I'll blow smoke in your face.' She gave me a look."

Former W. Va. Governor Visits Keyser

Cecil H. Underwood, center, former governor of West Virginia who is seeking election on the Republican ticket, was guest speaker Thursday night during the annual Lincoln Day dinner held in the Kelley Memorial Armory at Keyser under sponsorship of the Mineral County Republican Executive Committee. On the left is James I. Beamer, county chairman, who is introducing Jose' Clay, well-known Cuban leader for the return of the free government in Cuba, to the former governor.

National Guard Seeks Members At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—A recruiting program is now in progress by Company A, First Battalion, 115th Armor—the first such campaign to be held by the local Maryland National Guard unit since its formation here in 1947.

Captain William B. Wood, company commander, said the recruiting campaign during February and March is necessitated by the termination of enlistments and retirements of members within the next few months.

The campaign is part of the 29th Infantry Division's efforts to bring all units up to full strength as rapidly as possible, the commander said.

The company will be in need of three officers and is offering an opportunity to reserve officers interested in furthering their careers.

Those wishing to join the unit must be at least 17 years of age and not older than 36 and must pass the standard Armed Forces physical examination.

Those persons without prior service must serve for a period of six years; prior service National Guard re-enlistees, one, three or six years; those with prior service other than the National Guard, two, three or six years.

Full details on the recruiting program are available by contacting the State Armory in Frostburg, the commander said.

VFW Lauded For Part In B52 Search

LONA CONING — Members of Alvin C. Neat Post 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have received a letter of commendation from the Mayor and Council for their part in the search for the Air Force B52 jet bomber which crashed near here January 13.

The town officials notified William Nolan, commander, that "the activity engaged in by your organization can bring nothing but high praise for yourselves and for the community."

"With your usual high standard of community service, your group pitched in and helped house those personnel needed in the recovery of the plane, as well as affording them food and a place to spend the off hour."

"We feel sure that the impression many of these men got from your organization and home will always bring a kind thought for Lonaconing."

Members of the auxiliary unit of the VFW post were also praised for their efforts.

During a regular meeting of the post on Thursday evening plans were made for a stag party to be held on February 21 beginning at 8 p. m.

On the following night Bill and Leon will furnish music for a country store dance at the post home. Proceeds of the dance will go toward the "Football for Valley" campaign. The dance begins at 9:30 p. m.

Members are being reminded that if they wish to get license tags through the VFW post they are to leave the money, insurance form and auto registration card at the local home no later than February 29.

Commander Nolan has called a meeting of the Board of Governors next Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Bruce Band Parents Plan Hootenanny

WESTERNPORT — The Bruce Band Parents, at their meeting this week, planned to hold a "Hootenanny" Friday, March 6, at the school. The Thunder Hill Singers of Keyser will feature the program.

Tickets may be obtained from any band student or parent. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the bands for their uniforms and equipment.

Membership cards were distributed at the meeting. Membership is still open and any one desiring to join the organization may do so by calling the president, Earl Halterman. The next meeting will be held Thursday, March 12, at Bruce High School.

Concert At Shepherd

SHEPHERDSTOWN — The Baltimore Symphony Woodwind Quintet will present a concert in Reynolds Hall at Shepherd College on Thursday, February 20, at 8 p. m. said Dr. Guy Frank, music division chairman.

Bruce PTA Hears Talk On Scouting

WESTERNPORT — Harry J. Biggs, scoutmaster of Troop 36, discussed the scouting program at a meeting of the Bruce High School Parent-Teacher Association Thursday evening.

He spoke of the various advancements, starting at Tenderfoot through to the Eagle, the highest award in scouting.

He stated that advancements are not only made possible by fulfilling merit badge requirements, but that a boy's character and ideals are taken into consideration.

"The God and Country" award is the highest religious achievement. To qualify, a scout must give approximately a year of faithful service to religious duties under the guidance of a minister or spiritual advisor.

He told of the National Scouting Organization which arranges for Boy Scouts to serve as guides at the World's Fairs; of Camp Philmont in New Mexico and the National Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge for the third time. This district will be allowed to send 35 scouts and three leaders. William McDowell, McCool, historian in the Allegany County Council, gave a history of the National P.T.A. founded 67 years ago.

Mrs. Delbert Grove, president of the Westernport Elementary School P.T.A., outlined the history of the local organization.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, March 10, when a life membership will be presented to some worthy member.

The PTA approved the new by-laws presented by Mrs. Louis Newcomb.

Mrs. Gladys Harrison, president, appointed a nominating committee comprised of Mrs. Fern Green, Mrs. Newcomb and Mrs. Richard Stephens, who will present a slate of candidates for the election in March.

The organization voted to pay the dues to the evaluating team that visited the school last spring. Bruce High School is now accredited by the Middle Atlantic Association of secondary schools and colleges.

Campers Trim Fort Hill, Cop WMIL Title As Indians Stop Beall

Mt. Savage Keeps Mounties From Gaining Tie

Scores 61-56 Win On Home Floor; Valley Nips Bruce

WMIL STANDINGS

Team	W	L	Pct.
Allegany	10	2	.833
Fort Hill	7	3	.700
Valley	7	3	.700
Bruce	2	8	.200

By TED TROXELL

Getting a big helping hand from Mt. Savage, Allegany's Campers last night won their 27th championship in the 44-year history of the WMIL Basketball League as the wire-to-wire race came to an end.

Allegany dumped Fort Hill, 75-47, at Campobello for its eighth victory in ten WMIL starts, while Mt. Savage upended Beall, 61-56, before a capacity crowd on the Indians' floor.

A Beall triumph would have enabled the Mountainers to share the crown with the Campers. Had the latter quint lost, the race would have finished in a three-way deadlock for the first time in its long existence. Allegany swept through the 10-game WMIL campaign unbeaten last year.

Valley High exploded for 30 points in the final period last night to pull out a 76-74 decision over Bruce in the other league finale at Lonaconing.

Third Period Spurge

A near full house at Allegany watched the Campers turn on the heat in the third period to run away from a band of Sentinels that made things interesting for most of the first half.

Allegany led all the way except for one brief moment when Jim Mertens' field goal tied the count at 16-all with 22 seconds left in the first period. Steve Vandenberg hooked one in for the Campers and the Blue and White prevailed thereafter.

Running the advantage to 37-29 at halftime, the Campers ticked off eight straight points at the start of the second half and went on to outscore the visitors 25-7 in the third frame. Fort Hill connected on only two of 19 field goal attempts in the period.

Vandenberg, who paced the third quarter assault with 14 points, wound up with 33 on 15 fielders in 30 shots and three fouls in four chances. Jim Arrows collected 15 points for the Campers, getting seven in as many opportunities at the free throw line.

Fort Hill, playing without 64-center and leading scorer Vince DeLaGrange who is out with a broken ankle, was led by Tom Hamilton's 14 points. Howard Keynolds had 11 and Jim Mertens, 10.

Mt. Savage went ahead for good at 27-25 on a jump shot by Ralph Wilson, forged in front by as much as nine points on several occasions and then had to hold off the Mounties in the final period.

The visitors sliced the margin to 54-52 midway through the final stanza after they trailed by a 45-36 count in the preceding quarter. The score was tied seven times in the first half.

League scoring king Bobby Robertson sparked the Indians, who will represent Allegany County in the District One Class B playoffs, firing in 29 points.

Robertson, who broke the WMIL season scoring record in his eighth game, finished with a 10-game accumulation of 336 points and a 33.6 average. Wilson accounted for a dozen Indian tallies. John Smouse topped Beall with 20 and Ronnie Frasier added 14.

Valley's Black Knights, trailing by 12 points at one stage, fought back to knot the score at 65-65. Then after several more deadlocks, Larry Suder completed a three-point play to give Valley a game-icing 75-72 edge.

Suder, exploding for 13 points in the productive fourth quarter, finished with 23 to pace the Knights and Philip Schokey had 18 for the winners. Gary Smith and John Kinzie tossed in 29 and 22, respectively, for the Bulldogs.

Bayard Defeats Beverly, 81-47

Bayard High School swept its season series with Beverly High School of Randolph county by beating the visitors last night by the score of 81-47.

It was Bayard's 7th triumph against ten losses for Bayard.

WMIL TITLE REPEATERS — Here is the Allegany High School basketball squad which last night successfully defended the WMIL League championship won last year. The Campers rolled to a 75-47 home court win over Fort Hill, while Mt. Savage was beating Beall, 61-56, to knock the Mountainers out of tie for the league title. Kneeling in the front row, left to right, are Dave Fix, Allan Foley, Dave Bruce, Danny Keller and Jim

Ortiz Favored In Title Bout

Elorde Is Opponent In Scrap At Manila

By MARIO ROXAS

MANILA (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, the world lightweight titleholder, was installed a 7-5 favorite Friday to defeat Filipino southpaw Flash Elorde in a scheduled 15-round title match Saturday night.

The bout, being billed as a battle of champions, is expected to draw a record turnout of 60,000 spectators to the outdoor Rizal football stadium.

Despite the odds favoring the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, Elorde said, "I have at least a 50-50 chance to win." The Filipino holds the world junior lightweight and the Oriental lightweight crowns.

Ortiz, 27, is confident he will defend the 135-pound title successfully for the third time. He told a visitor Friday, "Be my guest at a victory celebration Saturday night. We will have champagne."

Narvaez Gets Nod Over Luis Molina

NEW YORK (UPI)—Classy Frankie Narvaez, an unranked lightweight who won't be one for long, scored his 12th straight victory with a majority decision over slugger Luis Molina Friday night in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Robertson, who broke the WMIL season scoring record in his eighth game, finished with a 10-game accumulation of 336 points and a 33.6 average. Wilson accounted for a dozen Indian tallies. John Smouse topped Beall with 20 and Ronnie Frasier added 14.

Valley's Black Knights, trailing by 12 points at one stage, fought back to knot the score at 65-65. Then after several more deadlocks, Larry Suder completed a three-point play to give Valley a game-icing 75-72 edge.

Suder, exploding for 13 points in the productive fourth quarter, finished with 23 to pace the Knights and Philip Schokey had 18 for the winners. Gary Smith and John Kinzie tossed in 29 and 22, respectively, for the Bulldogs.

Bayard High School swept its season series with Beverly High School of Randolph county by beating the visitors last night by the score of 81-47.

It was Bayard's 7th triumph against ten losses for Bayard.

LaSalle Tops Petersburg For 5th Straight, 60-52

Piedmont, Romney, Wardensville And Ridgeley Victors

The Vikings, outscored from the field, 24-15, outpointed the Explorers at the foul line, 22 to 12.

In other P.V.C. games Friday night, Piedmont High's Lions trimmed Southern's Highlanders at Oakland, 86-68. Ridgeley's Blackhaws won over the Moorefield Yellowjackets at Ridgeley, 70-54. Romney High trimmed Capon Bridge, 80-57, and Wardensville's Warriors scored a 67-60 decision over Mathias.

LaSalle High School's Explorers registered their fifth straight victory and made their season record 9-3 by downing the Petersburg High School Vikings in a Potomac Valley Conference game last night at Petersburg by the score of 60-52.

It was the sixth win against two losses for Coach George Geatz's quint in the conference.

LaSalle trailed at the quarter, 10-8, and also at the halfway point, 29-26, but forged ahead at 46-40 at the close of the third period.

The setback was the fifth in a row for the Vikings and made their overall record 7-11 and their P.V.C. mark 6-10.

LaSalle lost two players on personal fouls. Dick Delaney exiting in the third period while Bobby Neuberger went out in the final stanza.

Tommy Stitches was LaSalle's high point man with 14. Neuberger racked up 13 points, seven of which came in the second stanza, and Jim Brannon had an even dozen tallies. Jim Brodengeyer scored 17 points to lead Petersburg.

Bruceton Mills High School added to the woes of Northern High School by handing the winless Huskies their 17th defeat of the season last night in Preston county by the score of 90-77.

The winners had five players in double figures and T. Crites was the leader with 21 points.

Bruceton hooped 30 of 43 shots at the foul line.

Jerry Friend paced the Garrett countmen with nine baskets and 29 points.

Baltimore J.C. Visits Potomac State Tonight

Coppin Hosts F.S.C.; Deaf Quints Tangle

Potomac State College winds up its home schedule for the season tonight, playing host to Baltimore Junior College in a Tri-State Junior College Conference game at 8 o'clock.

The Catamounts' (14-9) are 7-3 at home and 7-6 on the road and will be playing B. J. C. the only time this season. Potomac State, now 9-3 in the conference, winds up its regular schedule Monday with Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City.

Frostburg State College plays Coppin State College at Baltimore tonight. The Bobcats will be engaging in their 17th game of the season. Coach Ron Van Ryswyk's eagles have won nine games and lost seven.

Maryland School for the Deaf winds up its series with the Maryland School for the Deaf, Frederick tonight at Romney. Coach Al Rubiano's Lions defeated the Marylanders in the first game of their series, 64-33, on January 25.

Hornets Cop BCL Crown

Chestnut Ridge Is Beaten, 84-44

Hyndman's Hornets sewed up the Bedford County League championship last night by rolling to an 84-44 victory over Chestnut Ridge High at the latter place.

The one-sided decision was the ninth without a loss in league play for the Hornets, who are 15-4 overall and have won their last 14 starts.

Bob Fichtner led a quartet of double-digitting Hornets with 25 points. Don Logue chipped in 17, Rick Conner snared 14, and Steve Stauffer collected 13. Barefoot led Chestnut Ridge with 18.

Larry Harding, the Pirates' leading scorer, racked up 25 points in 12 field goals and 1-10 at the foul line. Clark Hamilton was the runner-up with 18 and Gary Kidwell accounted for 15 tallies.

Mike Nixon, of Oldtown, hit a season low when limited to six baskets and 16 points but he was the only visiting player in double figures.

Coach Lewis Close's Buccaneers led at the quarter, 21-7, at halftime, 47-18, and at the close of the third period, 68-28.

Move To Televis Friday Night NFL Contests Draws Protests

Nation's Colleges,
High Schools See
Attendance Threat

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's colleges and high schools are protesting a move by Thursday night to televise Friday night games over a reported move by the National Football League to invade their traditional Friday night domain with network television.

If the pros go through with it, there were indications they might have an antitrust suit on their hands.

"Frankly, I am deeply disturbed by these reports," said Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference and director of program. "This is a matter for the NCAA's college television in inquiry and investigation. I'd say it is something for the lawyers to look into."

A spokesman for the American Broadcasting Co. said earlier this week that plans had been made for ABC-TV to televise five NFL games on Friday nights between Sept. 25 and Oct. 23.

The five particular games were held out of the big package sold recently to Columbia Broadcasting System for $14.1 million a year.

The NFL declined to confirm the ABC five-game deal, asserting that "our schedule has not been made up yet." The league office did not deny that such an arrangement might be made with individual clubs.

The ABC also refused — at least momentarily — to attach an official label to the report, although a spokesman for the network said, "It's absolutely true."

The project, in fact, has progressed so far that prospective sponsors have been identified. Bushnell said that he felt such a move by the pros contravened the spirit if not the wording of a federal statute stipulating that the National Football League could not sell a package calling for Friday night or Saturday games.

"This provision was intended to protect the economic health of college and high school football," Bushnell said.

Actually the law, spelling out exemption of sports from some antitrust legislation, is so worded that it covers only cases of a single network—or package—deal.

The pros might argue that the law does not concern this particular arrangement, since the clubs would be making the deals privately and not in conjunction with the league as a whole.

However, the danger to college and high school attendance on those particular nights would appear as great, and the colleges and high schools seem ready to fight it to the hilt.

Many colleges, particularly in the South, play games on Friday nights. Also, this is the prime time for the 12,360 high schools belonging to the National Federation of High Schools. Around 85 per cent of the high school games are played Friday nights.

"This would hit at the grass roots of all athletics," said one high school spokesman.

Bushnell said that if he and his college television committee do not get satisfactory explanations from the NFL and ABC, a formal protest would be made. He didn't say he would go all the way to the courts, but there seemed such an inference.

Musial To Head Federal Physical Fitness Program

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — President Johnson appointed Stan Musial, former St. Louis Cardinal baseball star, Friday to head the federal physical fitness program.

"Musial has accepted the job," President Johnson said to a crowd assembled at St. Louis University campus where he helped in a tree-planting ceremony.

The 43-year-old Musial, who retired as a player last year and now is a Cardinal vice president, succeeds Bud Wilkinson, former football coach at the University of Oklahoma.

Susquehanna Rallies To Upend Terrors

SELENSGROVE, Pa. (AP) — Susquehanna University made a late rally Thursday night and defeated Western Maryland College 87-75 in a Middle Atlantic Conference basketball game.

Susquehanna's height and accurate foul shooting were the telling factors in the victory.

The Crusader's 6-foot-8 center, Tom McCarrick helped Susquehanna control the boards in the latter stages of the game and the Crusaders ahead for keeps at 73-72 with 2:40 remaining.

The Green Terrors took an early 2-0 lead in the opening seconds, but quickly dropped behind by a substantial score. They came back to narrow the deficit in the waning minutes of the first period, however, and were on the short end of a 40-36 score when they went to the locker room.

Red Wings Extend NHL Win Streak

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe scored a pair of goals less than two minutes apart in the final period Thursday night to lead the Detroit Red Wings to their fourth consecutive victory, a 4-1 decision over the Boston Bruins.

Until Howe's heroics, it looked like the Bruins were going to make a game of it after falling behind 2-0 in the initial period as Detroit had scored on goals by Floyd Smith and Norm Ullman.

Boston came back in the second period to close the gap to 2-1 on a goal by Johnny Bucyk and were putting the pressure on Wings' goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Irregular Market Shows Trade Simmering Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went through another irregular session Friday. Improvement toward the close gave the list a slightly higher statistical edge.

Trading simmered down to 4.36 million shares from 4.83 million Thursday.

Losses in some pivotal stocks were offset to a great extent by Eastman Kodak's rise of 3 1/2 to 124 1/2 and by fractional advances of several other key issues.

Analysts linked the rise in Kodak to Wall Street talk about the possible stock split when the company's directors meet next week.

Cigarette and cigar stocks, electronics and building materials were higher on balance.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Most grain futures ended higher Friday.

At the final bell, wheat was off 1/4 to 1 1/2, corn up 1/4 to 1 1/2, soybeans up 1/4 to 1 1/2.

Export buying and short covering absorbed elevator hedging in nearby wheat. Demand was based on talk of light red wheat supplies and a sale late yesterday of 2,807,000 bushels of hard wheat to Pakistan.

Rye rallied more than 2 cents a bushel on late export buying against reports that East Germany bought 800,000 bushels of rye, pending the issuance of an export license.

Corn firmed with other grains on local buying. Cash buyers buying firmed oats. Local selling in soybeans and prices firmed. Liquidation followed by stop-loss selling weakened soybean meal.

N.Y. Eggs and Butter

NEW YORK (UPI)—(USDA)—Butter market Friday: Offerings were adequate. Demand improving on bulk. Wholesale selling prices in cents per pound (bulk in fiber boxes) AA (53 score) 58 1/2-59; A (52 score) 58 1/2-59; B (50 score) 58 1/2-59.

Egg market Friday: Offerings ample. Demand light. Wholesale selling prices in cents per dozen (minimum 25 cases): Extra large heavy weight (Min. 10 percent AA, 65 percent A, 47 pounds) while 35-37; brown 35-37.

Fancy heavy weight (Min. 10 percent AA, 65 percent A, 47 pounds) while 35-37; brown 35-37.

Extra large heavy weight (Min. 10 percent AA, 65 percent A, 47 pounds) while 35-37; brown 35-37.

Garrett Man Is Guilty In Morals Case

Sentence Withheld By Two Judges

Frank E. Brown, 39, of near Shaw, Va., yesterday was found guilty of two counts of an indictment in a morals case involving an 11-year-old girl when he was tried in Garrett County Circuit Court in Oakland.

Associate Judge Earle Cobey, who was on the bench with Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, withheld sentencing the man pending a pre-sentencing investigation by James F. Lewis, probation officer.

The petit jury, with Robert Buckel of Biltmore as foreman, deliberated over two hours before returning a verdict of guilty on two counts including assault with intent to commit statutory rape and simple assault.

He was found not guilty of common law rape, assault with intent to commit common law rape and statutory rape. A sixth count, incest, was dismissed by the state.

Yesterday afternoon the defendant took the witness stand and testified for about half an hour. He was the only defense witness brought to the stand by S. R. Pagenhardt, court appointed defense attorney.

Testifying for the state were the 11-year-old girl, her mother, Dr. James Feaster Jr., Oakland physician who examined the girl after the alleged assault in September last year, and T.C. Donald Tucker, of the State Police, arresting officer.

The state's case was presented by Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney of Garrett County.

For the past several months Brown has been undergoing psychiatric examination at Clifford T. Perkins State Mental Hospital. Brown was indicted last September by the grand jury of Garrett County.

Fair Weather, Rain Forecast For Weekend

The Weather Bureau calls for varied weather this weekend with fair and warmer temperatures today and a chance of rain tomorrow.

Garrett County received five inches of new snow late Thursday and early yesterday, but all highways were reported clear. The emergency snow plan which had been in effect there was lifted yesterday, State Police said.

The SRC said U. S. Route 40 was 100 per cent bare and all other roads were 80 per cent bare last night.

The Cumberland area also was scheduled to receive some new snow, but an additional warming in the atmosphere cut down the possibility of precipitation and only a few flurries fell early yesterday.

Man Is Fined For Assault

Leroy Wheeler, 32, Benjamin Banneker Apartments, yesterday was fined $25 and given a 10-day suspended jail term yesterday after he was found guilty of assault.

Magistrate Leslie J. Clark found Wheeler guilty of assaulting Charles Washington, 22, this city, during an incident Thursday afternoon in a local bar.

Magistrate Clark also found Washington guilty of malicious destruction of property and imposed a fine of $25.

Washington was charged with damaging a door on the apartment of Alfred Dempsey, 64 North Mechanic Street, following the assault Thursday afternoon.

Udall Urges Newsmen To Promote Area Interest

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has urged newspapermen to aid in arousing public awareness to what he called the environmental crisis that confronts Maryland and Delaware.

Udall, in a speech Friday night for the Maryland-Delaware Press Association, said this is the basic question:

"Is your region going to develop into a stimulating, attractive, inviting place to live, or will it become, in the mind of the nation, the vast suburban slum of the Mid-Atlantic Seaboard?"

"You are at the crossroads. The outcome of the battle between wisdom and short-sightedness will determine which direction your region travels."

Udall, asserting newspapermen should be those "most sensitive to the overall challenges of the total environment," declared:

"Dynamic action will not take place without public awareness of the environmental problem, and public awareness will not be aroused by itself."

Udall said the region, as a result of its natural advantages, "faces the great problems of the technological age with a heightened degree of urgency."

He said President Johnson, as a part of his attack upon poverty, is considering an Appalachian Parkway with its terminus in Western Maryland.

"He is analyzing the project, first as an immediate source of jobs, payrolls, bread and butter for the depressed Appalachian District, and secondly for its long-term stimulation of a new gateway into the Ohio Valley and an influx of tourists to Western Maryland," Udall said.

"Communities and land owners stand to benefit from this project through development of tourists to Western Maryland," Udall said.

"Communities and land owners stand to benefit from this project through development of tourist facilities, accommodations, and recreational opportunities. This is no place for the shoddy, the slipshod, or the second-rate."

"This is an opportunity to create a showcase of tourist development with good investments, and tasteful designs that make aesthetic considerations paramount."

Md. Senate Approves Fire Code

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland's first uniform fire prevention code was approved by the State Senate Friday and sent to the house.

It sets up a minimum of restrictions governing the use of buildings which would be enforced by the state fire marshal's office except where fire marshals would enforce the law.

Seven counties, Baltimore City and some other municipalities already have fire codes. In cases where their laws are stricter than those of the state, the local regulations will apply.

Counties which already have fire codes are Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico.

Curtain Ignites

West Side Fire Company was called to 111 Walnut Place yesterday morning after a curtain was ignited by a gas heater. Firemen said the only damage was to the curtain.

New Processes Threaten Jobs, Union Asserts

Opposes Drop In Duty On Glass

New glass making processes threaten to eliminate thousands of plate glass jobs, and dropping the duty on glass imports would compound the damage, Enoch R. Rust, vice president of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers International Union, warned the Tariff Commission in Washington, yesterday.

"The new Pilkington float glass process will reduce production costs by 80 per cent, according to an article in the January issue of the Glass Digest, the industry's official publication," he said.

"Those jobs are the grinding and polishing work that make up the major portion of plate glass jobs."

Mr. Rust noted that the same issue of Glass Digest contained a full page advertisement carrying the banner, "New Pilkington Flat Glass Outdates Plate Glass."

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, America's two largest plate glass producers, already are licensed to produce under the process pioneered by Pilkington in England and limited production has already started.

Employment Drops

In 1956, these two companies had a combined total of 17,252 plate glass jobs, and at the present time they account for only 10,305 jobs, a 40 per cent decrease in eight years, he said.

Mr. Rust said the decline was caused by automobile industry's switch from laminated glass to tempered glass, by new manufacturing processes and by a rise in imports.

Lowering the tariff duty will simply compound the troubles ahead for Toledo, the Pittsburgh area, Cumberland, and Ottawa, Ill., the centers where the bulk of plate glass is produced, he asserted.

Mr. Rust pointed out that the automobile industry now consumes approximately 60 per cent of all plate glass produced in this country.

If General Motors or Ford switches from domestic to foreign production, we would be in deep trouble, and we have evidence that the Chrysler Corporation already has installed imported glass on some of its automobiles, he said.

Hire Workers

"We have first hand knowledge of the fact that our overseas competitors have new, modern glass plants and they are rapidly expanding their capacity," Mr. Rust said.

"The glass industry in Belgium, West Germany, Italy and Japan has been hiring more and more workers while we have been laying them off in this country," he added.

"We believe the time has come to protect American jobs as best we can, particularly at a time when technological developments threaten to completely alter the character of the industry," he said.

Mr. Rust's testimony was a part of a mutual presentation by seven AFL-CIO unions banded together in the Stone, Glass and Clay Industries.

The group, representing approximately 250,000 workers, urges no further tariff reductions in the stone, glass and clay industries.

Other unions involved in the joint stand are the American Flint Glass Workers; the International Brotherhood of Operative Pottery; the Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers; the Window Glass Cutters; the United Stone and Allied Products Workers and the Glass Bottle Blowers Association.

Legislators Drop Bills Into Hopper

A resolution requesting the University of Maryland to study problems of cloud seeding for weather control has been introduced in the General Assembly.

The request is contained in House Joint Resolution 5, sponsored by the Allegany County Delegation.

The action resulted from a meeting held here late in January when Senator George R. Hughes Jr. and five members of the delegation met with opponents and defenders of cloud seeding, financed by orchardists, to reduce damage from hail.

Legislators pointed out that no local legislation can be introduced at this session of the Assembly and suggested detailed research into the problem before the 1965 Assembly.

Senator Hughes has introduced a number of bills and is co-sponsor of several of the first 90 bills thrown into the Senate hopper. They include:

Senate Bill 69, to make Johns Hopkins University scholarships effective in any of its colleges or branches and to reduce state aid by the value of unused scholarships.

Senate Bill 75 would permit master plumbers who have held certificates of competency for 20 years or more and then allowed to expire, to get new certificates merely by applying and paying the required fee.

Senate Bill 76 would require the use of protective eye glasses for students and teachers in laboratory classes while using materials which might endanger eyes.

Senate Bill 77 would increase the amount of proof of financial responsibility required of taxicabs not licensed by the Public Service Commission, and of commercial motor vehicles for hire.

Senate Bill 78 would allow for deduction of retail sales tax from certification of title tax on certain motor vehicles.

Senate Bill 90 would permit pupils to be excused to participate in religious exercises.

Senator Hughes, with Senators Derr and Alton, has sponsored Senate Bill 79 to regulate money paid in advance to funeral directors and cemeteries for services which will not be rendered until the death of a person.

He is sponsor, with Senators Derr and Alton, of Senate Bill 70, which would require permanent care funds for burial grounds and cemeteries.

He is co-sponsor with Senator Derr, of Senate Bill 89, which would revise the existing seven Congressional districts of Maryland and create an eighth.

Senator Hughes is co-sponsor with Senator Welcome of Senate Bill 60, which would revise the boundaries of Congressional districts.

Will Build Home

William Cletus Hartsock, 1602 Frederick Street, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a 1½-story split-level home, with basement garage, at 1605 Frederick Street. The home will be 24 by 44 feet and of frame and stone construction.

ABL Employees Win Safety Prizes

Louis Baker Jr., ABL area safety supervisor, after employees passed two million man-hours of accident-free work to win the ABL sixth plant manager's safety award. Employees have the choice of any of 21 prizes being offered by the company.

Editors Told Of Automation In Newspapers

Gunning, Sitter Deaths Lamented

BALTIMORE (AP) — The executive editor of Editor & Publisher told the Chesapeake Associated Press Association Friday about computerized news operations around the country.

"We're coming to this," said Jerome H. Walker, executive editor of the trade magazine published in New York.

"It's going to sweep the country," he said.

In his talk on automation, Walker mentioned machines which produce typesetting tape from a reporter's typewriter, those which handle copy paragraph by paragraph rather than line by line, and others which edit and headline stories and produce them in whatever wordage desired.

The Chesapeake AP Association also elected officers during its meeting at the Sheraton-Belvedere, held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Maryland-Delaware Press Association.

Elmer H. Jackson III of the Annapolis Evening Capital was named president, Charles Alexander of the Wilmington (Del.) News-Journal vice president and Frank Wetzel, chief of the Baltimore AP bureau, secretary.

The AP executives also approved resolutions of regret at the deaths of Eugene Gunning of the Cumberland Times; Rash Rash, wife of George Rash of the Hagerstown Daily Mail; and Ervin B. Sitter, father of Bernard Sitter of the Cumberland News.

Jackson presided at the AP meeting and Wetzel made a secretary's report.

Looking to the future, Walker told of optical scanning in which a computer reads copy then operates linestacking machines and another device to produce printed copy by listening to a voice.

"It's frightening in many respects," he said. "But I don't think job displacement is as bad a factor as it might seem."

Walker was a newspaperman for 25 years in Albany, N. Y., before becoming executive editor of Editor & Publisher 20 years ago.

Towson Layman Speaks At Church

"Faith, Action and Success" is the topic of the talk to be given by John M. Seney, Jr., Towson, for the "Urgent Needs Crusade" at a special service at 11 a.m. Sunday at Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley.

Mr. Seney is a member of the Towson Methodist Church, and church treasurer. He also is chairman of the board of the Baltimore Conference Nursing Home steering committee. He is engaged in food service business. The public is invited.

British Church Members To Visit West Virginia

In exchange for a 1961 mission of West Virginia churchmen to England, 34 British church members will visit various sections of the state including Keyser and Romney, said Bishop Wilburn C. Campbell of the West Virginia Episcopal Diocese.

The group, which will arrive in New York by plane on April 7, will tour the World's Fair including the West Virginia pavilion, before leaving by bus for Wheeling.

The second week of their stay will include visits to host families in Clarksburg, Fairmont, Morgantown, White Sulphur Springs, Romney, Keyser, Shepherdstown, Grafton, Buckhannon, Weston, Winchester, Va., Hagerstown, and Richmond, Va.

On April 22, they will assemble for a two-day visit to the Church's Peterkin Conference Center near Romney and they will visit Washington, D.C., before returning to New York for the return flight on April 27.

Bishop Campbell said the groups, all but two of them clergymen and their wives, will be led by Bishop Robert C. Mortimer of the Diocese of Exeter and his suffragan, Rt. Rev. W.A.E. Westall.

Water Tank Work Will Begin Soon

Equipment needed to erect a 100,000 gallon water tank on McNamee Hill will begin arriving here soon, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said yesterday.

Mr. Light said the Carl Belt Inc. firm here completed laying the piers for the tank yesterday under a sub-contract let by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company.

Mr. Light said a representative of the firm was yesterday inspecting the site and completing preparations for the project.

The company representative told City Hall staffers the firm expected to begin bringing equipment here in about a week, weather permitting.

The Pittsburgh firm was the low bidder at $35,450, for the erection of the water tank.

The concrete piers must set for several weeks before they have gained the strength needed to bear the weight of the tank.

'Rubber Stamp' Status Sought For Board

Employee Unit Hits Ellis Appointment

BALTIMORE (AP) — Professionals should run the Maryland Commission for Forests and Parks, an employee association official said Friday because laymen "can serve only as rubber stamps."

Worthington D. Pearre, executive director of the Maryland Classified Employees Association made the statement as a bill prepared by the 13,000-member association was introduced at the Maryland Legislature. The bill would reduce the commission to advisory status.

The commission, given policymaking power only last year, is composed of businessmen.

"It is a good idea to get the advice of laymen," Pearre said, "but they are not qualified to run the department. Without professional knowledge of forests or parks, they can serve only as rubber stamps to experts in the department."

Pearre's group has been feuding with the commission over the appointment of Spencer C. Ellis as administrator. Ellis has no background in forestry.

In defending the appointment, commission chairman Lawrence Hammerman has said Ellis is an expert on parks and that parks are more important for recreation in Maryland than forests.

Under the proposed bill, the director would be the top policymaking man in the Department of Forests and Parks and the job would remain in the merit system.

Pearre said Ellis would not qualify because the position would require a forestry background.

The bill also would provide that preference for director be given to persons currently employed by the department and residents of Maryland. Pearre said there are seven such employees who qualify for the post.

Rites Monday For Local Man Killed By Train

Services for Ralph Kenneth Willard, 58, of 51 South Street, who was killed yesterday morning when he was struck by a Western Maryland Freight Train, will be conducted Monday at 1 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Gardens. Pallbearers will be L. L. Carder, C. M. Carder, J. Beeche, J. O. Wright, B. F. Hansrote and R. Norris.

The accident occurred on the Hagerstown Division of the Western Maryland on a straight stretch of track, and BT-1, a symbol freight train hauled by four diesel units was proceeding toward Knobley Tunnel past the Virginia Avenue crossing.

Authorities said the train crew observed a man walking eastward with two dogs on the south side of the track. As the freight train neared, the man threw himself on the tracks and was run over.

The train was stopped immediately and city, state and railway police notified. After the body was removed, it was taken by McDonald Ambulance to the funeral home.

Police said the Virginia Avenue crossing was blocked over an hour while details of the accident were established.

Engineer of Train BT-1 was L. W. Erb, Hagerstown, and the conductor was C. M. Germroth, also of Hagerstown.

Detective Lt. James E. Van is investigating the mishap.

Born in Cumberland, a son of the late Oscar and Mary C. (Meders) Willard, he had been employed as a machinist helper by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. He had been in failing health three weeks.

Mr. Willard was a member of the Machinists Union, Woodmen of the World and the South End Rod and Gun Club.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Viola M. (Blackburn) Willard; a stepson, Virgil Welsh, Ridgeley; a foster-daughter, Mrs. Thelma Barnhart, this city; three step-daughters, Mrs. Virginia Burkett, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Helen Willard, Phoenix, Ariz.; and Mrs. Dolores Dancy, Cleveland.

A brother, James Willard, city; four sisters, Mrs. Florence Brant, Mrs. Gordon Wallis, Mrs. Charles Weaver and Mrs. Bernice Wise, all of this city; a step-granddaughter, Miss Virginia L. Crabtree, at home, and eight grandchildren.

To enable Rep. Charles McC. Mathias to address the group and also be in Washington for a quorum call early Monday afternoon, the meeting of the Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association Monday at Central YMCA has been moved forward to 9:45 a. m.

Rev. William J. Cox, association president, said the group ordinarily meets at 10:30 a. m. but the early starting will enable Rep. Mathias to discuss prayer in public schools and still get to Washington by chartered plane at the stated hour.

Scout Troop Receives Its Charter

MovieTrend Heartening To Leaders

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For an industry that was supposed to curl up and die the movie theater business is showing amazing life.

Eugene V. Klein, president of the National General Corp., which runs 222 theaters—Fox West Coast—in 16 states, declares:

"We feel the theater business bottomed out some time ago. The climate has been extremely good for theaters recently. There were times at Christmas when every one of our theaters was sold out, and that hasn't happened for five or six years."

"What has caused the theater revival? Better product. The major reason for the increase of theater business is that Hollywood has been making pictures that people want to see."

"Mostly, it has been good, sophisticated pictures that audiences can enjoy. Like an 'Irma La Douce,' not a great picture but lot of fun."

"I think Hollywood has gotten the message. People won't go to see any Grade B garbage. They won't go to see message pictures. They'll pay $2.50 without complaining to see something they want to see. But if they don't want to see it, you can't get them in on passes."

Gene Klein is a plain-spoken man with the frame of a pro football fullback and a sense of what the public will buy. That knack is demonstrated in National General's latest statement: earnings in fiscal 1963 at $3,459,600 vs. a loss of $6,605,919 two years ago.

The veteran film chain had suffered a series of red-ink years before bouncing into the black in 1962. The change in fortune resulted from a modernization campaign that now has the corporation selling not only movie entertainment but houses, dried figs and hootenanny singers.

Among National General's new enterprises: Concerts, Inc., which produces live attractions, including a season of musicals at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium; Mission Pak, the fruit sellers; theater color-vision; for closed-circuit television; mobile rentals, trailer supplier; and housing and commercial developments in Marin, San Francisco, Orange counties, etc.

"But theaters will always be the major portion of our business," said Klein. "We have shut down or sold some and cut the seating capacity in others; some had 3,000-4,000 seats while 950 is a more sensible number today."

Shaved Ives

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Folk singer Burl Ives shaved his beard for the first time in a decade to qualify for his role of the captain in "Mr. Pulver and The Captain."

"Navy regulations don't allow officers to have beards," the heavy-set Ives explained.

'My Fair Lady' Now In Domain For Amateurs

NEW YORK (AP) — The original Broadway stars of "My Fair Lady" are on national tour in the musical that wound up White Way run without recouping all its investment.

Sid Caesar, Virginia Martin and Nancy Andrews head the traveling company. When the production closed last June 29 after a 33-week run, there were unrecovered costs of about $150,000 on $400,000 investment.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Title changing is a favorite pastime in movieland where one of the latest switch, made without explanation, was changing "The Scarlet Blade" to "The Crimson Blade" at Columbia.

TV CAMEOS: Bob Martin

Auditions Stairways To Video Careers

By ED MISURELL

The networks, like most large organizations, have their share of running problems.

One of the biggest facing producers today is to discover fresh talent and new faces for such variety hours as "The Danny Kaye Show," "The Ed Sullivan Show," "The Perry Como Show," "The Jimmy Dean Show," "The Jackie Gleason Show" and others that may be planned for next season.

In an attempt to solve the dilemma for their network, CBS executives decided to hold regularly weekly auditions for singers, dancers and other entertainers trying to break into the big time in show business.

"We started the auditions about a week ago," said Bob Martin, CBS Director of Talent and Castings, "and we are being deluged with requests from performers all over who want to show us what they can do."

"As our program moves into higher gear, I expect that we will do some 40 auditions a week. That will come to more than 2,000 a year. The reason for holding so many? I've learned a long time ago that to mine gold you have to sift an awful lot of gravel."

Should a performer show promise in the first screening, he or she will be brought back for further auditions. "Only then," said Martin, "will they be showcased before the producers of our variety programs. Those skinned from the hundreds who appear will be the figurative cream of the crop."

The variety auditions are not a new policy at CBS, according to Bob. "We used to hold them regularly at one time," he explained, "but we stopped them some years ago about the time that Garry Moore went into night-time TV. Before that we had a good number of daytime outlets for variety performers and we were always on the lookout for youngsters who possessed unusual ability."

"Of course, in the nine years in which I've worked in casting at CBS we've always held regular auditions for dramatic performers. Finding talented people for our drama shows has always been an important part of our chores."

In addition to the auditions,

ASPIRANTS CHECKED — Head of the CBS casting department, Bob Martin, and a member of his staff look over a list of newcomers seeking auditions.

Martin says that he spends a good part of his time scouting acts in night spots and actors in theaters on and off Broadway. "Of course, living in the suburb of Norwalk would make this rough," he said, "if I didn't stay in town a couple of nights a week. I'm a member of the Lambs Club and stop there whenever the job calls for me to remain overnight."

Forty-seven-year-old Martin, a native of St. Louis, studied drama at the University of North Carolina. In addition to acting, he wrote sketches and lyrics for campus revues. After his graduation, he acted on the stage briefly in New York and worked in radio in a variety of capacities. When war came, he served a long hitch in the Navy.

After leaving the service, Martin spent the next five years working in various community theaters. Now married and a father, he found it difficult to support his family on the pay he was receiving. "It drove me back to New York," he said.

"Television was busting out all over then and bringing a much larger life to the entertainment business. Whereas I was seeking a job as a producer or director in TV, a job as casting director at CBS came up first and I took it." Returning to the subject of auditions, Martin detailed some of the qualities he and his staff seek in newcomers. "In our search for talent," he said, "we look for actors who possess good physical characteristics. Not necessarily the Adonis type, but one who is well set up and handles himself with an assurance that often reflects training."

"Primarily, however, I look for the element of surprise in an actor — the fellow who doesn't telegraph what's coming; like a pitcher who tosses a curve, a drop or a knuckler from one windup. In addition, I keep my eye out for warmth in a performer—someone who can project personality into a camera and out to the nation's viewers."

James Coburn Actor Who Can't Be Type Cast In Films

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — James Coburn, one of Hollywood's rising stars, says film producers don't really know "how to classify me"—as a hero or a heavy.

Jim wouldn't have it any other way.

There are hundreds of actors in Hollywood who have pretty, faceless faces—kissers that look good and say nothing. Coburn's mug is something few persons can forget whether they've seen it smiling or scowling.

"Nobody really knows how to classify me which is really good for me, I guess," Jim said recently before leaving for Mexico to co-star with Charlton Heston in "Major Dundee."

He recently completed "The Americanization of Emily" with James Garner. Coburn cited that picture to show what he meant by "classy."

"In 'Dundee' I play a one-armed Indian scout," he explained. "And in 'Emily' I play a straight down the line Annapolis graduate who worked for an admiral during the war."

Struggling Actor

It wasn't too many years ago that Coburn, now 35, was a struggling television actor. He got most of his video exposure in two weather-inspired series. "Klondike," which later became another show called "Acapulco."

At least Coburn had a chance to thaw out before the show went off the air. After he left the series Jim's movie career started to improve. Producers began to appreciate the unclassified actor and cast him in movies.

"It's a strange kind of a feeling," said Coburn who is married and has two children. "As we said, I'm kind of strange and offbeat. That kind of worked against me. Producers couldn't see me playing the romantic lead. So consequently I played the antagonist. Then the parts kept getting better."

"When I did 'The Magnificent'

Seven I became known generally throughout the world. After that my price went up, the billing got better and the parts got better."

Gets Advice

When an actor's star starts to shine brightly, he's in for all sorts of advice from movie industry railbirds, many of whom have no idea of what they're talking about. Coburn got such advice.

"I have a kind of individual quality, an individual look that has some kind of presence," he said. "In the position I'm in I get a lot of advice from people who suggest I become more of a personality than a human being. I've never been able to understand that and I don't agree with it."

"My point of view is to be a human being who acts rather than an actor who is a personality."

Coburn knows his career is not self-made. All actors should be aware of this fact but few of them admit it publicly. Jim does, giving a verbal round of applause to his agent, Meyer Mishkin, who handles such stars as Lee Marvin, Chuck Connors, and "Gunsmoke's" doctor, Milburn Stone.

"I like to do a variety of things, a heavy, a comedy, a satire," Coburn said. "My agent knows this and looks out for these parts for me."

Summing up the impact of his new popularity, Jim concluded: "Thank God, they're good parts."

Tolstoy Classic Being Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — "War and Peace," a drama based on Tolstoy's classic novel, has been put over to next season's production agenda by the Phoenix Theater. Paul Gregory, Janet Gaynor and Amy Lynn are no longer connected with the sponsorship.

Wrightson Busy Singer In All Media

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl Wrightson, sleepy after an all-night trip home from one of his innumerable concert engagements, stretched out in a chair, stroked his well-groomed beard and grinned about the hectic job of being a busy baritone.

"Lois Hunt and I sang at the White House luncheon for Queen Frederika of Greece — first time they ever had music at a White House luncheon."

"I'm no stranger to the White House, but naturally you get nerves."

"Now the only way I ever show nerves is that my hands get cold, almost sub-zero. President Johnson didn't bat an eye when I shook hands with him — but the Queen of Greece almost jumped a foot."

"I remember once in the old days of TV when I came up behind Peggy Lee—we were on a live coast-to-coast hookup — and put my hands on her bare arms, and she went 'aaaaah!'"

Wrightson appears all around on television when he can get the time off from his busy round of concerts, nightclub work and summer stock. Right now, for instance, he's off on a 45-city concert tour that will last till mid-April.

Hosts Own Show

He gets time to appear on the "Tonight" show 8 or 10 times a year, on the Telephone Hour twice a season, on the Paar Show and various musical shows, and he hosts his own program, "The American Musical Theater," every Sunday morning on the New York CBS station.

This weekly program is shipped out to some other American cities, and some segments of it go to Australia, England and Canada.

Wrightson would like to see something like it go on network television.

"The idea is that we have interesting people on, good interviews and a performance from first-rate entertainers who are appearing on Broadway at the time," he said. "But the main thing is that it's about musical comedy—something we in America have developed into a real art form."

"It's not only a musical show but it's a show about the theater."

"The music that Lois Hunt and I do as a team in nightclubs and concerts is all musical comedy. And everybody likes it. It's ours. If opera is the Italian national spirit, musical comedy is ours."

"I'd like to do something like 'American Musical Theater' on a network basis."

In the matter of Wrightson and television, it's a case of how veteran can you get? He got into television in 1939—you heard me, 1939—when there were only about 3,000 sets in New York.

Writes Comic Opera

"I was just finishing up being a page boy at NBC," he said. "I wrote a little comic opera—starring myself (chuckle) — and the guys there all joined in to put it on. There was only one TV station in town, and they used to mail cards every week to set owners to see what they liked best, and the novelty of the thing made the people very faithful in returning the cards."

"The Singing Cedars" Will Perform At Benefit Show

A Muscular Dystrophy benefit show featuring "The Singing Cedars" of the Washington, D.C. area and a dance will be held, February 22, at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club starting at 8:30 p.m.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Ali Ghaners.

The benefit is being sponsored by Algonquin Forest No. 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, in connection with their National Tall Cedars of Lebanon Week activities. All proceeds will go toward muscular dystrophy research.

Tickets may be secured from any Tall Cedar: at Custom Floors, 138 Frederick Street or at the Shrine Country Club. The show is open to the public. For table reservations call 722-2031.

Early in 1955, a small group of men, who were members of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon, banded together under the direction of J. Roland Cumberland of Prince Georges Forest and formed a chorus which is now called "The Singing Cedars."

"The Singing Cedars" is an a cappella chorus of which many of its members are professional or amateur musicians. Within the group is a complete orchestra, who share the spotlight with the wonderful choral arrangements presented by the chorus.

The organization was started to furnish sacred music at the religious services of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon and quickly branched out into secular music as their GUEST STARS IN SERIES—Jack Lord and Phyllis Avery play a young war veteran and his wife in "Man in a Hole" while guest starring with Jack Palance in "The Greatest Show on Earth". The segment will be shown next Tuesday on ABC-TV.

Youth Discusses Space Travel

A "lady astronaut" and one of the nation's leading heart specialists will be among the featured guests on Honeywell's "Science All Stars" TV series when it returns to the air on Sunday, Feb. 16.

The "lady astronaut" is a pretty 17-year-old Greenwood, Miss. high school senior named Ladye Montgomery. She has devised several experimental systems that demonstrate the navigational techniques used in space flights.

On the Feb. 16 show, Ladye will explain gyroscopes and their importance in space vehicle guidance. She will also "model" a life-sized duplicate of the Mercury capsule, and discuss space travel with the boss of America's astronauts, Dr. George Mueller, chief of manned space flight programs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

EDIE ADAMS

On Meet The Press

Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who is being widely discussed for the Republican Presidential nomination despite his insistence that he is not a candidate, will be the guest on "Meet the Press" Sunday, Feb. 16.

Paar Will Host Former Staffers

Sally Ann Howes, Hugh Downs, Dody Goodman and Godfrey Cambridge will be guests on "The Jack Paar Program" Friday, February 28, (NBC-TV color broadcast, 10 to 11 p. m. EST).

For Downs and Miss Goodman, their appearance with Paar will seem like an alumni reunion of Paar's former "Tonight" show.

NY World's Fair Already Getting Room Requests

The New York World's Fair Housing Bureau has announced contracts have been signed with 360 hotels and motels, guaranteeing rates on a total of 100,000 rooms.

The agreements were drawn with establishments of every classification — budget, commercial and luxury—meaning visitors should find no difficulty obtaining accommodations compatible with their tastes and pocketbooks.

More than 500 letters a day are pouring into the bureau's reservation office at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City. Telephone inquiries are processed by a battery of 10 clerks in a telephone room recently opened at the bureau's office. When finished, it will be staffed by 35 people and will resemble a brokerage house with wall boards listing all reservations available and made.

Most inquiries simply request information on reservations, but there also have been questions about accommodations for pets and the availability of swimming pools.

Renaissance Jewel Show In Baltimore

The world's greatest private collection of Renaissance jewels will be shown in a new setting at the Baltimore Museum of Art beginning Tuesday, February 18 at 8 p. m.

Fifteen minutes after the public opening of the newly-named, reinstalled Treasure Room in the decorative arts section of the famous Cone Wing, Charles Parkhurst, the museum's director will give an informal gallery talk, illustrated with special color projections of the jewels. The public is invited to attend the opening and the lecture which will begin at 8:15.

The brilliant collection of classic jewels was assembled by Melvin Gutman, a resident of New York who came from a family that settled in Baltimore in the early days of the Republic. Mr. Gutman's cultural interests were stimulated by museum and cathedral treasures of Europe and, since the beginning of this century he collected Renaissance jewels, far Eastern porcelains, Persian miniatures and ancient goldsmith work.

The great collector loaned the ancient gold and the jewels to Oberlin College and the Baltimore Museum of Art where they may be studied by scholars and enjoyed by museum visitors. These classics of the jeweller's art come from the centers of Europe and Russia and were created between the late 1400's and 1700. Most of them are of gold, some of silver, amber, pearl and ivory, and all are encrusted with diamonds, emeralds, rubies and other gems.

Travel By Freighter Becoming Very Popular

Freighter travel has become very popular the past few years and the Dutch and Germans have combined the best features of cargo and passenger ships and have provided more and improved accommodations for passengers.

Some freighters now carry up to 50 passengers, but these travelers are subject to a freighter's schedule.

Passengers must be prepared to sail "on or about" a certain date. They must accept delays, even changes in routes according to the variances of a freighter's orders.

They live, however, with the comforts of a passenger vessel, albeit on a more moderate scale.

From Rotterdam through the Panama Canal to Los Angeles takes 25 days, more or less.

For the passenger that means 25 days all to himself. No telephones, no TV, no theater, no conversation unless one chooses conversation, no preparing of meals, no shopping, no catching a bus or driving a car. And no newspapers except a minute, one sheet scan of world news put out by the wireless operator.

But the basic comforts and even luxuries are available. There is a hospital and a doctor. There is a library full of books in English, Dutch and German. There is a laundry room with washing machine and irons for the passengers to use.

There is a card room, a reading and writing room and a well stocked bar. There are deck chairs and rugs, bouillon at 11 and tea at 4. Six movies are shown during the voyage and some bingo is played. The captain usually has a couple of cocktail parties.

Best of all, each cabin is an outside cabin, each is air conditioned and has its own bathroom.

The dining saloon is a dining room with separate tables. There is even a wine steward and the best champagne is three dollars a bottle. The food is excellent and the menu varied.

Freighter passengers have two things in common: they do not get seasick and they have plenty of time. Often, too, they are retired from business or teaching and most, but not all, are over 50.

Most of the passengers are proud of their vessel and interested in its cargo. They know when the ebb tide is in Rotterdam, the danger implied in whistles in a fog off Dover, and how long it takes to go through the Panama Canal.

The cargo, being general, is always fascinating. On one ship, a thoroughbred horse was established in his stall on the after deck, and a 23-ton private yacht was in place on the forward deck. Below decks were compartments for perishable fruits.

On an earlier run, this same ship had carried six tigers on the forward deck next to the improvised swimming pool. Animals, even tigers, adjust easily to sea travel, but during storms anxious passengers make their way forward to see how the beasts are getting along.

The crews are always men who love the sea and ready to do any job to be on it. The service they give is remarkable. Meals can be served in cabins, changes in menus are made willingly and deck chairs are dragged forward or aft with the sun by cheerful stewards.

Bar hours are reasonable, and so are the drinks. They cost about 40 cents whether cocktail or highball, although Dutch gins are as little as 10 cents a glass. The bartender doubles as storekeeper also. He has candies, cigarettes, tobacco and laundry soaps for sale, in addition to liquor.

Alec Guinness Is Hit In New Broadway Play

NEW YORK (UPI)—It has been a long haul but Sidney Michaels seems to have made the grade as a first-rank playwright within two seasons.

In 1962-63, his first Broadway effort was an excellent adaptation of a tricky French original called "Tchin-Tchin," with Margaret Leighton and Anthony Quinn.

Now there is his original "Dylan," a smash hit at the Plymouth Theater with Sir Alec Guinness in the title role.

The presence of Guinness, one of the world's great actors, would bring in a lot of customers under almost any circumstances especially since he hasn't been on the stage here for 13 years, but it should not be overlooked that Michaels has forged a tight and literate script that has some shining moments of its own. And, again, with tricky material.

For "Dylan" tells in episodic fashion of the last two years of the Welsh poet, Dylan Thomas, whose drinking and other excesses led to his untimely death at 39 during a reading tour in America. He is a difficult character to pin down convincingly in a play, but Michaels has managed to lick numerous problems in fashioning a script that gives director Peter Glenville and the actors the proper foundation on which to build.

Michaels, who must be around 38 now, has been writing for years. First, it was poetry, then short stories, plays. In the early 1950s, he held numerous jobs around here, including one as waiter at a hot dog stand, just to get by. All the time he was writing.

Finally, he began to get a few small breaks, and eventually got out to Hollywood as a writer. Again, it was up and down: nothing much really happening. For example, one screen script never went before a camera. He sold a few television scripts. Then he came to the decision about four years ago that what he really wanted to do was to write for the stage, and he dropped everything else.

The break-through came last year with "Tchin-Tchin," at which time he had three other plays suddenly under option to New York producers. One of them was "Dylan"—as an export himself. Michaels found Thomas a fascinating subject. Now, Michaels is a playwrighting name with which to reckon.

Guinness' performance as Thomas is a gem. It is a waste of time to try to describe what he does with the role. He must be seen.

Canada's Kate Reid is tremendous as Caitlin Thomas, the poet's strong-minded wife who can't live with him and can't live without him. James Ray is fine in the other major role.

HITCHHIKERS—Surfboarding in the wake of a boat is the newest sport in Florida. These pretties are hitching a ride off sunny beach at Tallahassee.

Atlantic City Getting Many NewBuildings

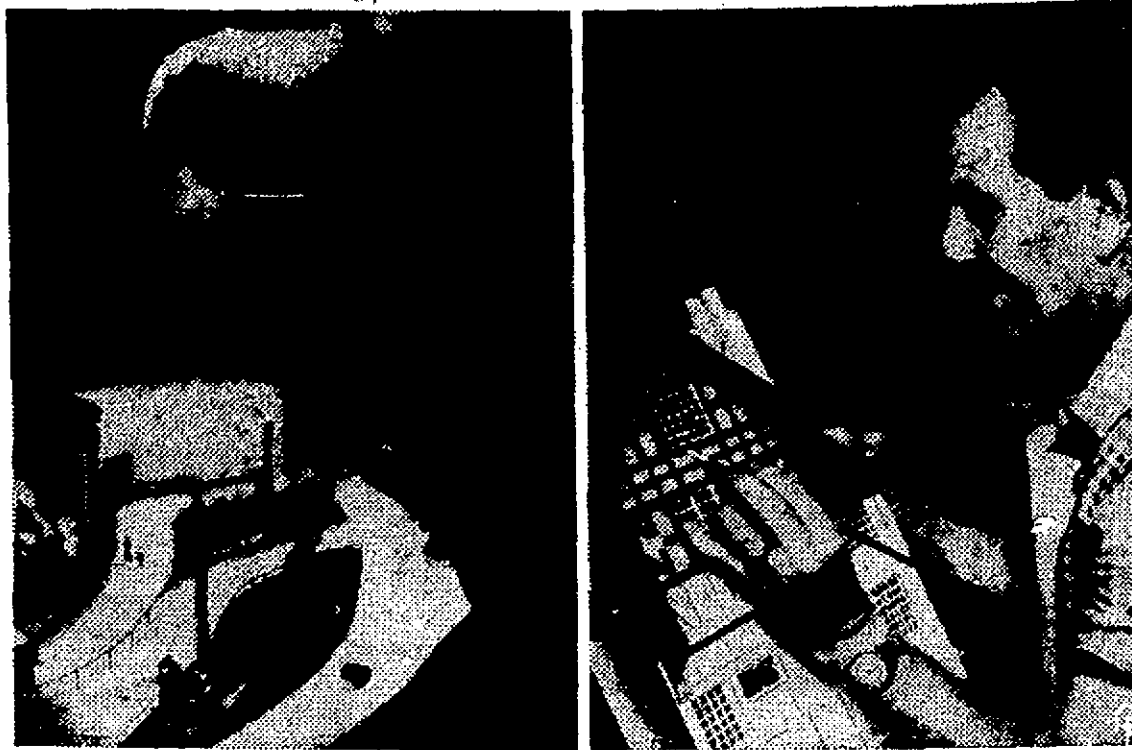

With construction continuing on some half dozen projects, Atlantic City has built more than 100 new hotels, motels and apartment buildings in the past ten years.

The current construction crop includes six motels and a 340-unit apartment building. Work on these is being rushed with hope for summer occupancy and there are a half dozen more similar projects on the drawing boards with actual construction expected to start in the Fall.

The apartment building Ocean Manor towers ten stories above the Boardwalk at New Hampshire avenue. It is being built for "goldenagers" with monthly rentals starting at $89 and already has more applicants than it has units. Two other similar projects are scheduled to start construction in the Fall.

Largest of the motels nearing completion is the Penn Motor Inn, a twelve-story, 150-unit, on Pennsylvania Avenue just off the Boardwalk. It will have two levels for automobile parking and ten sleeping floors with swimming pool, convention hall, coffee shop and other features. The Paganet Motel at Mississippi and Pacific Avenue, a 100-unit, four-story structure, becomes the motel nearest convention hall being just across the avenue from the big auditorium. The 106-unit Cullow at Park Place and Pacific Avenue will have two levels for parking and four for sleeping topped by a penthouse for the owner. Another 100 unit motel is rising on North Carolina Avenue mid-way between Pacific Avenue and the beach.

The final two motels are additions to hotels. One, a 95-unit structure, will tie in with the Dennis and the other of 50 units will become a part of the Colton Manor.

SIZING UP THE WORLD'S FAIR—Many talents are pressed into service as the opening of the New York World's Fair approaches. Jack Ferges (left), whose co-workers call him "the Giant," stands six feet, seven inches, and at 246 pounds, contrasts sharply with the tiny miniature homes he is building for the Ford Motor Company exhibit. At right, a former circus clown, Jean LeRoy, also works on "Walt Disney's World in Miniature" for the auto pavilion, which has a "Magic Skyway."

Many Units To March In Washington Parade

More than 46 organizations from Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia have entered a total of 98 units with 2,844 persons in the 30th Annual George Washington Birthday Parade in Alexandria, Va., on February 22.

The celebration of the First President's birthday on February 21-23 will consist of two receptions, two banquets, two balls, a beauty contest, motorcycle pilgrimage to Washington's tomb at nearby Mount Vernon and Alexandria's traditional George Washington Birthday parade.

More than $1,000 in 18 cash prizes will be given for musical organizations in the parade, and $550 in 36 trophies for marching units and floats. Depending upon good weather, up to 100,000 spectators gather for the parade. The City of Alexandria and the Veterans of Foreign Wars sponsor the parade.

Participants in this annual celebration include top national, state and city officials, top national, state and city Veterans of Foreign Wars and VFW Auxiliary officials, as well as general officers and admirals representing the U. S. Army, Marine Corps, Navy and Air Force.

A memorial wreath from President Lyndon B. Johnson, will head the pilgrimage to Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon on February 22 before the parade. To date, 22 floral wreath tributes from different state and city organizations have been designated for the pilgrimage.

The National Commander-in-Chief of the VFW, Joseph J. Lombardo of Brooklyn, N. Y., will introduce the main speaker at the banquet February 21, Grand Marshal for the parade will be Major General William F. Cassidy, U. S. Army, Commanding General, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Twenty-two young ladies between the ages of 16 and 21 have entered the contest to be chosen Miss George Washington Birthday Celebration 1964.

The schedule for February 22 is as follows: 9 a.m. motorcade leaves Alexandria for 20-minute drive to Mount Vernon, former home of George Washington. 10 a.m. ceremonies and wreath-laying at Washington's tomb. 1:30 p.m. formation of the parade. 2 p.m. units begin parade which lasts from two to three hours. 5 p.m. awarding of parade prizes, George Mason Hotel.

Units desiring to enter parade should contact W. B. Vawter, parade chairman, 6112 Amherst Ave., Springfield, Va., or phone FL 4-8940 after 6 p.m. Parade units may be marching units, color guards, musical units, majorette groups, horse mounted units, or floats. General Chairman of the George Washington Birthday Celebration is Samuel B. De Vaughan of Russell Mitchell Post VFW No. 609, who has headed the event for 30 years.

Skiing In Scandanavia

Skiers in Scandinavia can try their skills in or just outside the major cities. Helsinki, for example, has marked trails starting at the Olympic Stadium and encircling the city. Overlooking Oslo is Holmenkollen Hill, scene of international ski competition. The waterways of Stockholm are ideal for skating and ice sailing, while the ski slopes of Saltsjobaden are a short jaunt by car. The Vikings, by the way, rent skis and poles for 50 cents a day, and group instruction runs less than $1 an hour.
